The total cost of the 1987 Explorer was approximately $21,000. $2,800 in boosters was donated by students, parents, friends, and neighbors. Over $2,000 worth of ads were sold to local businesses. The resulting sale price per copy was $20 and 900 copies were sold.

One step closer to Independence for today's teen

Most teenagers want to be free of the restrictions placed on them by authority--the rules set up by their parents and their teachers. The need to be free to make their own choices is most often symbolized by having their own money and/or a job.

The two go together. To get to work, a car is a necessity because public transportation is non-existent. To keep a car on the road, money is required. Freshmen and sophomores may have part time jobs but the majority of the working permits are issued to juniors and seniors.

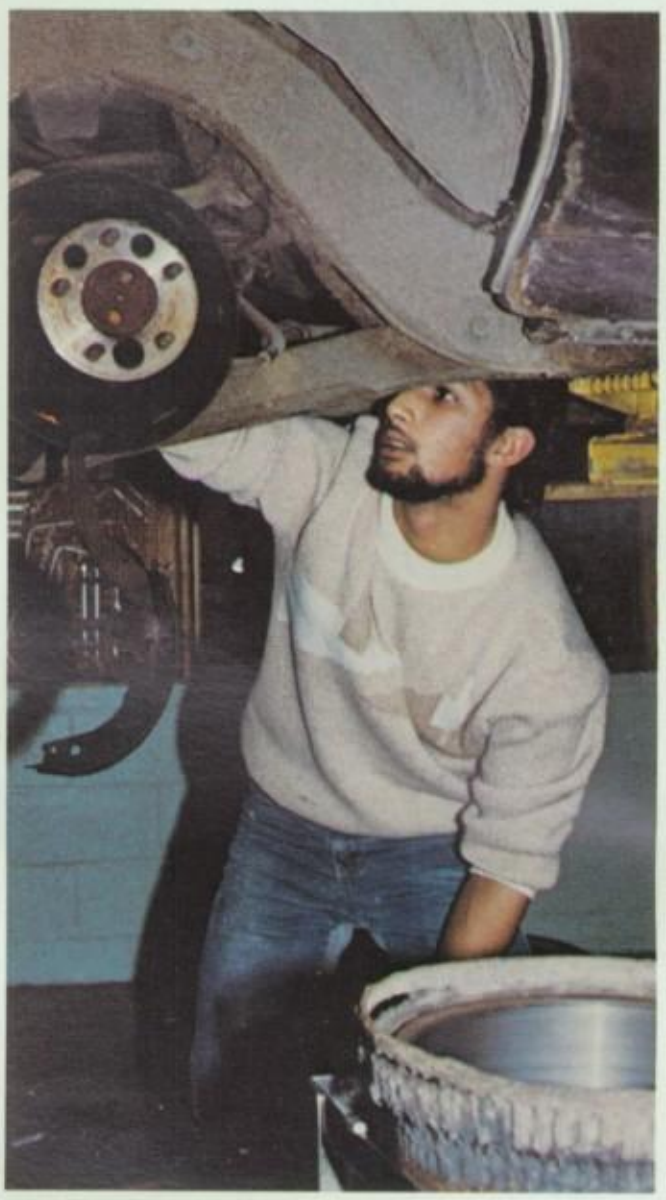
With funds of our own the teen decides how to spend it--opting for clothes, pizza, the movies, and records or tapes. Some more unusual desires were expresssed by Mary Jo Galati who wanted to buy more insurance, Lisa Parak who puts money in the bank, Peter Lonsiak who would buy skiis, and Shannon Erickson who would spend her money on dance classes.

Handling money moves the teenager one step closer to living life with confidence and independence.

Michelle Hall and Sean McGrath were employed at the Vernon A & P where an average of thirty VTHS students a year find work. Michelle also worked at Camera Haven. The leading emloyer in the area for high school students is Vernon Valley. An added advantage to working on the ski slopes is being able to ski for free. Great Gorge Village is also a big attraction because an extra benefit is being able to use the Spa.

New employers at the A & P must go through a short training period when they receive help from an experienced staff member. Stocking shelves doesn't take much instruction but working the cash register is another thing and requires at least four days of trainin All students start at minimum wage but can expect tw to three raises per year. The union which an employe must join has negotiated good medical benefits inclu ing optical and dental plans. Time and a half is earn on Sundays and 12 to 25 hours is the average wo week. Monica Mensonides worked in the bakery depa ment and prepared the trays of dough for the baki ovens; she also bagged the products. She looked fo ward to switching to the deli department because once routine job is mastered, it can get boring.

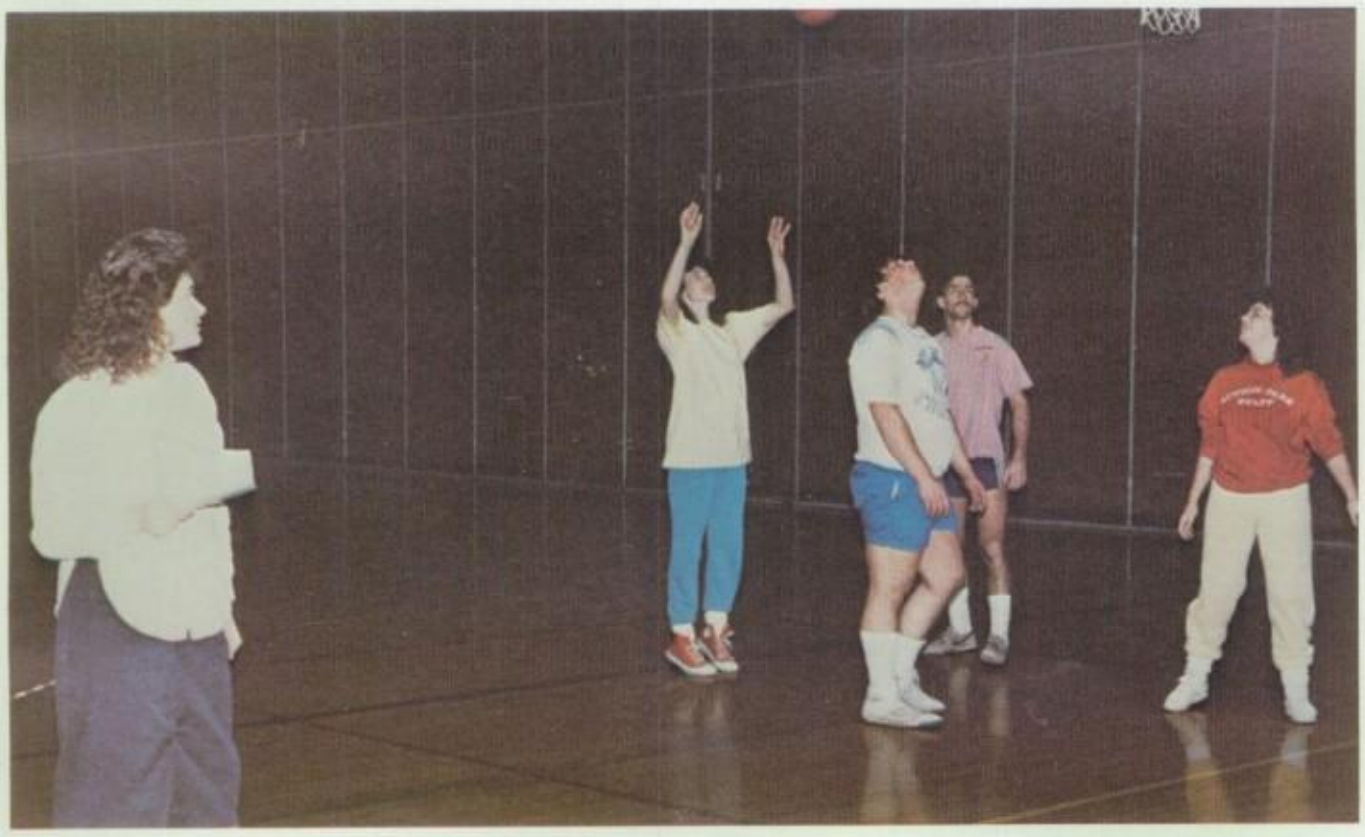
Senior Valerie Stoeckel is employed at Vernon Valley and uses a sizable portion of her income for the upkeep of her car. Insurance alone runs $234 every six months.



Above: Alex Rivier holds down two jobs — one at Pathmark in Butler and the other pumping gas at the shell station in Newfoundland. He has started saving for his dream car, a BMW.
Left: Rick Lafrenz fondly remembers his LeMans which was accidentally destroyed by fire in the school parking lot. He's now driving a 74 Camero but would have preferred a 69.

Below: Getting all the information is important to Tracey Barcalow. Tracey said she is about to make her decision as to what she will be doing for the next several years; she must decide between attending college and enlisting in the armed forces.

Right: A daily decision that can at times seem monumental is what to wear. Experts say that what is selected from your closet in the morning reflects your personality and your mood. Janice Woods said that she has been known to try on two or three outfits before she makes up her mind.



After watching Mark DiGiulio, Cary Begraft, Vicki Sherwood and Patti Sullivan, Jodi White queried, "Should I file this application for a job or should I play basketball?" Jodi finally decided to play basketball.

Jennifer White's decision to study paid off in a commendation notice, a new form for 1986-87.

"Why not get involved in school?" suggest Cheryl Cook, Jodi White, Gail Bonstra, Kim Goeglein, John Mulligan, Joe Zinno, Jennifer Smith, and Adam Lettieri.

"Want to party?" ask Len Grest, Robin DeVries, Dave Jones, Gina Malvano, Vicki Alvarez, and Mike Sarapuciello.

CHOICES

Independence implies the freedom to choose. Everyday in the life of a student starts with choices. From the time you get up in the morning until the time your head hits the pillow at night, social, school life and real life decisions have to be made.

Social choices that are made include such things as what to wear, to date or not, whom to date, and where to go on weekends.

Decisions that are made in school can also affect future plans. Getting bad grades can limit the choices for after high school. Will homework get done? Will teachers get get more numerous and increasingly difficult respect? Will there be time to try out for the school play or the basketball team? Ever since the purchase of electronic grading machines for the school, the multiple choice test has become an academic life style on test day.

Real life decisions are consciously made when teens listen to advice from adults or ignore what is heard and when teens give in to peer pressure or "just say no." Students against drunk driving (SADD) recommmend a phone call if driving is not a wise choice.

Cindy Gannon believes there is enough time between classes for a phone call. Will five minutes be enough?

Jared Carcich ponders his test choices for Mr. Trenz's Carpentry & Building class.

The air force recruiter, Karen Swezy and her father Rod Swezy, VTHS's head custodian, are all happy with Karen's career choice .

With choices comes Responsibility

"Do you want to go to a party tonight?"
"That sounds great, but I have to babysit."
"Well, just say that you got sick, no big deal."
"I know they'll find out, they live right next door to me; they'll see me go out."
"No, they won't; don't be stupid."
"If they don't find out, my parents will and they'll be mad!"
"Just tell your parents that your neighbors cancelled."
"I'd love to go but I can't get out of babysitting. I'm really sorry."
"So am I. Are you sure?"
"Yeah, I'd feel too guilty if I went to the party and I already said I'd do it. Thanks anyway."

There are many temptations in life but once you've made that choice, you need to stick to your commitment. Some decisions you make may help you in the long run. Studying in advance for a test instead of cramming the night before may give you a better chance of passing the test and getting credit for the course. Behind the wheel training offered during the summer allows you to get your permit when you're 16 years old. If you don't register for Behind the Wheel, no one will remind you to sign up. You must take the initiative and then you'll see the results.

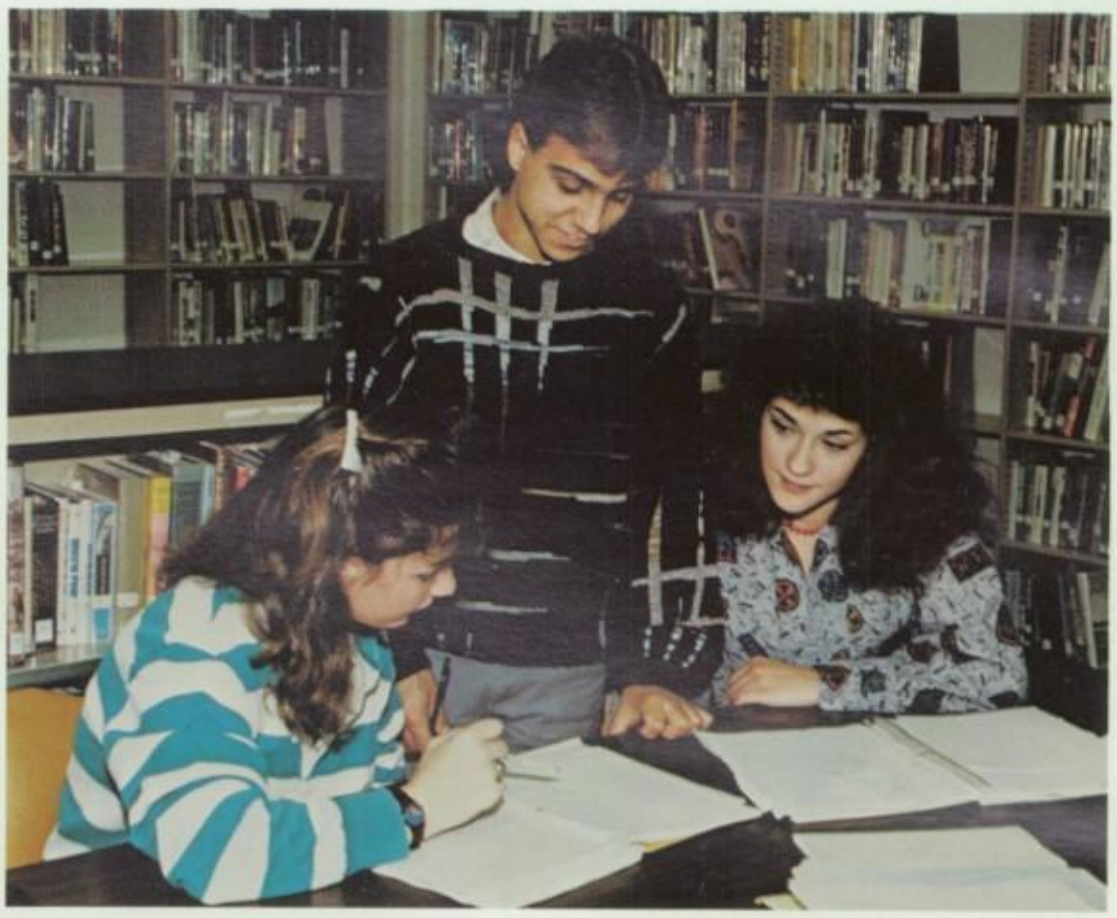
A part of getting one step close to being responsible is overcoming temptations and sticking to your commitments.

The Child in the Family course prepares Sherry Kazmiercjak for a career in early childhood education and future parenting. She works with pre-schooler Roy Quakenbush.

Chores are no longer divided into male and female jobs. Today, it is common practice for guys to do the dishes, cook dinner, and do the laundry. Girls are often seen shoveling the driveway or taking out the garbage. Frank Vayo and Mark Godfrey are both liberated enough to demonstrate the change.

Left: Rutgers Bowl contestants Mike Leshnower, Rich Buckley, Mike Caldwell, Glen DeBiasa were selected from the entire student body to represent the school. When they accepted the responsibility, they were coached by Mrs. Fran Spielhagen and Mrs. Irene Batchelor, GATE cooordinators.

Below: Mr. Phil Hardin instructs Janet DenBleyker during her first behind the wheel lesson. The demand for these lessons is so great that last spring the students were selected by lottery. Students have come to school as early as 3 a.m. to be first on line to sign up. The new system seems fairer and certainly causes less chaos. Driving is a heavy responsibility and drivers' ed eases the burden.



The organized chaos pictured to the left belongs to Jeff Zduniak. Although it doesn't look as if cleaning up is his number one priority, the chaos reflects Jeff's school responsibilities. He is a yearbook photographer, an officer of the Thespian Society, and worked on the senior video.

Above: Libraries are no longer silent tombs. Quiet studying is still a possibility but many times students go to the library to study together. "It's better to study with someone else," says Alicia Barone who is pictured with Dennis Giunta and Lisa Murray.

Coming home gala event for alumni

A moment of suspense for parents, friends, alumni came just before that half-time announcement..."and the Vernon Homecoming Queen for 1986 is Rose Scarola." Rose was escorted by Bill Haynes and presented to her subjects on Saturday, October 11.

Nominated for the 1986 court were Shannon Erickson, Leigh Hallam, Kim Hennessy, and Valerie Stoeckel. The five candidates were chosen by the senior class and the final selection was by vote of the entire school. The tally was done by Sharon Wilson, chairperson of the Homecoming Committee.

The balloons for the second annual race was sponsored by the Class of 1987 and released during the half-time show at Homecoming.

Radium stopped...for the time being

Contaminated dirt was about to be trucked to Vernon Township by the New Jersey Department of Environmental Protection (NJDEP) but the community did not allow it. Demonstrations, concerts, rallies, marches, and meetings were staged along with legal action to say "Hell, no, we won't glow."

Vernon was chosen as a possible site because of the availability of dirt. The DEP wanted to mix the contaminated soil with Vernon's clean soil. This untested, unproven plan could possibly have leaked radon into the water supply. The identified Vernon site was over the largest and purest aquifer in the township. This aquifer holds tremendous volumes of water and is Vernon's main water supply.

Financial contributions and moral support came from many communities within the county and even from across the state line. VTHS faculty members have been active in the fight; Ms. Donna Spector of Warwick and Mr. Doug Castellana of Vernon both served on their local committees.

The coming together of people and communities in a common cause has put a halt to the plan to move radon into Vernon...at least for now.

Life is an ADVENTURE

a search, a process, a journey, a quest

But nobody knows where or how it will end. The unpredictability of the future makes life an exciting and, at times, a frightening challenge.

Start with some basics. Will you pass your drivers test? Will you qualify for that job you want? Will you get accepted at the college of your choice?

If the challenge of the ordinary is not enough, a greater risk may prove to be the stimulating thrill you seek. Pilot your own aircraft. Hit the powder with your skiis. Go with the current in a hot air balloon. Or climb the highest mountain.

The mini skirt has returned. Pina Grammatica wears a yellow and black mini-dress with opera length pearls and Leigh Hallam is attired in a layered big shirt that is belted at the waist. Both ladies wear pumps. Michelle Stone has selected flats to wear with her denim mini and sweat top. Her tinted stockings are a must for the season. Mr. Charles McKay's favorite designers are Giorgio Armani and Ralph Lauren but he wears a double breasted suit by Raffanati with padded shoulders. Mike Olsen chooses a mauve tie which marks the pastel choice for the now look.

YOU and Fashion

Mini-skirts and long skirts, the casual and the dressy, the wild and the jean look are all on the scene. Style reflects the person and the choice is up to you. Who are you?

A survey conducted by the Fashion class represented 131 students. Results indicated that the majority shop in department stores and shop for bargains. Deciding what to buy seemed to depend on what other people are wearing and personal preference. Baggy won over tight by a 4 to 1 margin; the casual look was preferred to dresssy. By far, the color named as most flattering was blue.

Left: Junior Mike Hyland and freshmen Adam Pilon, Marc Gable, and Jennifer Catanzaro wear a lot of black and spike their hair to create the wild look. Below: The classic jeans first designed by Levi Strauss in 1850 for California gold miners are still with us but with added touches. This common item in our wardrobes is worn by Rolando Santiago, Michelle Salzman, Jill Bajar, and (seated) Barbara Russo and Mark Merolle.

Dani Woznicki, Tammy Gray, and Mrs. Joanne Mulligan favor the Liz Claiborne look with long skirts and shawls. Brian Gray and John Mulligan like pleated slacks and bulky sweaters.

Faculty member Gaylon Powell, seniors Kristen Kleedorfer and Harvey Bierman are perfect advertisements for the classic preppy look. The crew neck sweater and button down collar have never completely disappeared from the fashion world since they were first introduced in the fifties. Pleated skirts and penny loafers are part of the look.

Michelle Chiaramonte and Brooke Gomm select pale pink for their ruffled prom dresses. Dan Hennings wears the formal suit with board shoulders and a short jacket banded at the waist.

We're not ALL from Vernon

America has always been a host nation and opened its doors to vast numbers of people from many cultures. The Statue of Liberty was refurbished for its 100th birthday party in recognition of what these people and America have meant to each other.

People brought their traditions with them to cherish and to share. Students attending VTHS as part of the Rotary exchange program were Carlos Gabarro of Spain, Christian Gyurasits of Austria, and Morten Fahlvik of Norway. These three were required to meet all academic requirements of a senior. Living with the Peters family and attending school in order to polish her English speaking skills was Yoko Nakamuro of Japan. Kerri Peters spent the summer with Yoko and her family in Japan. All of these students came to learn and to share.

A survey of the school population revealed that over 70% of these students have attended schools somewhere other than Vernon. 42% attended schools in other parts of New Jersey; 31% hail from out-of-state and 2 % from out-of-the country. Only 26% of our population qualify as true natives.

When senior Cathy Popiel was in the sixth grade in Poland, she enjoyed punk music.

American born Christine More moved to Germany when she was three. She believes school is easier in the states. Chris said "In Germany the last two years of high school are like college."

Originally from Scotland both John Calhoun and James Moore enjoy the weather because it isn't always raining. Vernon loves hearing the lilt of their Scottish brogue.

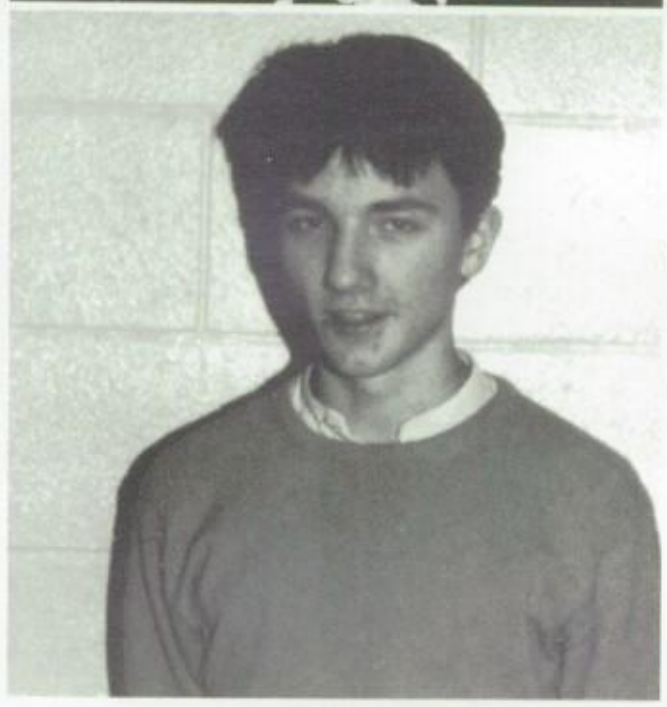
Theresa and Lisa Landrud lived in Ziare, Africa, before moving to Vernon. The warm tropical weather is what they miss most about Africa.

Believe it or not, I like to ride a school bus. I come from Salzburg, Austria, and arrived in the U.S. on August 15. I enjoy skiing but can't compare the skiing in Vernon to the skiing at Gasteinertal in Austria where the slopes are much steeper.

Christian Gyurasits

After a 17 hour flight from Tokyo to Newark and a one hour car ride, I arrived at the Peters home in Vernon. I come from the city of Aichi-Ken which is not as spread out as Vernon. I enjoy using an abacus which, when correctly used, works like a modern calculator. I think the people here are very friendly and I feel very much at home.

Yoka Nakamuro



Watching TV is great in America. Back in Norway there are only two channels and that certainly limits your viewing choices. I'm from Norway and am really enjoying my participation in Viking sports.

Morten Fahlvik

What I really like most about Vernon are the parties and I attend as many as I can. I came to the States on August 16 from Barcelona, Spain, and lived with Mr. & Mrs. Stewart of Glenwood. I moved to Newton in January. I like horseback riding and believe that the most beautiful horses I have ever seen are those in Spain.

Did Reagan know?

American weapons were sold to Iranian terrorists in return for freeing American hostages held in Lebanon according to some sources. The funds from these sales were then diverted to the Nicaraguan contras. Among those involved were Lt. Col. Oliver L. North (an aide on President Reagan's National Security Council),National Security Adviser John Poindexter, Director of the Central Intelligence Agency William Casey, White House Chief of Staff Donald Regan, and Secretary of State George Shultz.

Popularity of the Reagan administration dwindled as a result of this news, and polls indicated a lack of confidence in those in charge. The case has been compared to Watergate and is sometimes called "Irangate." Once again, the American people were not as angry about the deed as they were about the cover up.

Mets win World Series in 7

With a record of 108 wins and 54 losses, the Mets went to the playoffs with the best season record in baseball. The Mets had to face the Astros.

If the National League playoffs went to the full seven games, then the Mets would have to face ex-Met Mike Scott for a third time. The Mets had already lost two games to Scott but the third meeting did not take place. The Mets won the 6th game of the series for the necessary four.

October 20 open the World Series at Shea Stadium in Flushing, New York. Even though heavily favored, the Mets lost the first two a home. However, in Boston they won two o three games. The Mets returned to Ne York behind three games to two. Both win at home were needed to clinch the title.

The Mets won game 6 in extra innings Everything depended on the seventh an final game. The fans were ready. Both team were ready. Would the Boston Red So World Series jinx hold? Until the last out o the last inning, the game was in the balance The Mets became World Champions for th second time in twenty-five years.

Arson responsible for deaths

The ballroom of the San Juan Hotel in Puerto Rico was the starting site of a fire that raced through the Casino and swept up air and elevator shafts. Helpless people where forced to flee to the roof where helicopters attempted rescues.

The officials felt the probable cause was arson. The chief suspect was a previous employee who had not received his union benefits while on strike.

Are surrogate contracts legal?

Baby "M" is the center of a landmark court case that tests the validity of surrogate mother contracts.

A childless couple, Mrs. Elizabeth Stern and her husband Mr. William Stern hired a surrogate mother Mrs. Mary Beth Whitehead for a fee of $10,000. Mrs. Whitehead agreed in a written contract to be artifically inseminated with Mr. Stern's sperm and carry his baby. After delivery, she was to give the baby to the Sterns. However, after the birth on March 4, Mrs. Whitehead changed her mind about giving up the baby. The blonde-haired, blue-eyed baby girl was taken to Florida until the authorities returned her to the Sterns.

The case was tried in Superior Court by Harvey R. Sorkow. The decision in favor of the natural father does not necessarily mean that the final word has been handed down on the legality of surrogate contracts.

Terrorists run rampant

Terrorism has gripped the world by th throat. Tourists are staying away fro Europe and other trouble spots becaus they believed that international travel is n longer safe.

In November 1986 a terrorist trainin camp discovered in Syria was being run b Hafaz Assad. Kidnappers went into hig gear after a suspected terrorist was arreste in West Germany. American professo Robert Polhill was one of those kidnappe The mysterious disappearance of Ter Waite is another. Waite was a leader of a evangelican move to release hostages.

Voyager sets world record

On December 26, 1986, a revolutionary plane named Voyager completed the first trip around the world without refueling. The plane was designed by Burt Rutan and was flown by pilots Dick Rutan and Jeana Yeager.

Voyager is built of very light material and weighs only 2000 lbs; 7000 lbs. of fuel were stored in 17 separate tanks. Because of the amount of space required for fuel, the cockpit only measured 3 1/2 by 7 1/2 feet.

Voyager had to overcome many difficulties. Before the plane left the ground the tips of the enormous wings scraped the ground and fell off and the plane almost went off the end of the runway. More difficulties were encountered during flight. At the end of the second day, typhoon Marge hit over the Pacific. The violent storm forced a 180 degree turnabout.

The physical discomfort of the two pilots confined to their tiny cockpit for over a week was one of the greatest difficulties. Rutan and Yeager could only sit or lie down; standing up was impossible.

Crack hits the streets

Cocaine is a powerful drug made from the leaves of the cocoa shrub. A new form of the drug called "crack" has hit the streets. Crack is a refined form of cocaine that has increased the number of drug fatalities.

Crack is a first time addictive drug that produces mental confusion. Constant users see and hear things that do not exist.

Major "busts" of cocaine leaders in South America including ring leaders Carlos Lehder have removed billions of dollars worth of the white powder from the streets.

Many people in America have also been caught in possession of cocaine or crack. Those that are addicted will do anything to get their drug. A group of girls including some as young as nine were soliciting on the streets of Paterson to support their habit.

World loses great artists

Another loss of another great artist seemed more than the world of art could bear. However, the contributions of the seven major personalities who died within the past months will not be forgotten.

Among the greats were Liberace who was considered to be an outstanding performer at the concert grand. Henry Moore, renown English sculptor of large stone pieces, and Andy Warhol, leader of the Pop Art movement, will be missed.

The acting world lost Cary Grant who starred in "North by Northwest" and James Cagney who had the lead in "Yankee Doodle Dandy." Ted Knight, master of television comedy, had a role in "Too Close for Comfort" and the "Mary Tyler Moore Show."

Danny Kaye, called a good will ambassador to the world, will always be remembered for his many roles in the theater and on film. Best loved was his version of Hans Christian Anderson's piper. His song and dance routines brought joy to the hearts of adults and children alike.

America retakes Cup

The America Cup came home to America. The yacht race was held off the coast of Australia in February. Skipper Dennis Connors was determined to regain the cup lost to Australia in 1983 after a 132 year American ownership.

Connors spent three years preparing the "Stars and Stripes" and its crew for the best of seven races. The victory was claimed in five races. Connors and crew were treated to a heroes welcome with a New York ticker tape parade.

Giants prove they're # 1

January 25, 1987, was Super Bowl Sunday. The fans cheered endlessly in the Pasedena stadium. The final game to determine who was the best was played by the Denver Broncos and the New York Giants.

Only one team could win and the New York Giants ripped onto the field with energy and confidence. The experts and the bookies were split on who was to win.

At half time the score was 10-9 in favor of the Broncos leaving Giant fans a little worried. When the second half began, the momentum had changed. The Giants came on strong and scored 30 points. The final score was 39-20.

After a 30 year losing streak the Giants proved to Coach Bill Parcels, their fans and themselves that they were truly the National Champions.

Winning tradition continues

Defeating Pope John at the very beginning of the season, demonstrated great determination and effort on the part of both cross country teams. The boys and girls squads ended the season with winning records.

The boys regular season record of 7-2 was capped by finishing second in North Group Section I Championship. Junior Rich Falcone finished first in the Ridgewood Invitationals. Falcone also broke the course records three times in the regular season--once at home, once at Pope John, and once at Sparta. Senior captains were John Grube(left) and Carl Schotter.

The girls team concluded its season with a record of 6-3 and placed fourth in the SCIL. With senior captains Maureen Blandino and Janet DenBleyker leading the way, underclassmen had inspirational examples to follow.

Brodhead brings wide open offense to Vernon

"There was definite improvement over last year's record as well as the offensive play," says wide receiver/ defensive halfback, Mike Olsen. The Vikings improved their record from 3-6 last year to 4-5. A totally re-designed offense was one of Coach Brodhead's strategies in his first season as head coach. This new offense was successful during one of the more memorable moments of the season, with Sean McGrath's eighty yard touchdown catch from Dave Smith. This play took place during the Vikings victory over Kittatinny on October 4.

Experienced eleven have balanced attack

The key to the success of the 1986 field hockey season was the experience of the starting eleven. Of these eleven, eight were seniors. The balanced attack of the offense and defense was obvious in the final record of 12 and 6. The varsity allowed themselves to be scored upon only 11 times in a total of 18 games while the offensive placed the ball in the goal 40 times.

The turning point of the season came on October 29 when Vernon defeated Kittatinny by a score of 1-0 and replaced the Cougars in second place in the SCIL standings. To improve scoring, Coach Shrope invented the positions of "chaser" and "roamer"--filled by Patti Dzikowicz ad Tracy Gabriele, both of whom earned all-league recognition. Leigh Hallam, Marlene Lindner, and Carol Ignatieff were also named to the SCIL team.

VARSITY: new level for girls soccer

For the first time Vernon fielded a Varsity Girls Soccer team and the girls went out not knowing what to expect. They played hard and found themselves in a position to qualify for states.

Their record was 2-2 and they had only three games before the cut-off date to improve their record to over the required .500. Their first of the three games was against a tough Warren Hills team. The girls played an excellent game from beginning to end for the full 80 minutes. But the opponents scored with only one minute left. The next game was a 2-1 victory over Sparta moving the team back to .500. The last chance came on October 24 but Hopatcong posted a 1-0 win.

Although the girls did not make it to states, they finished with a record of 6-6-2. The Varsity team captains Michele VanAtta, Beth Barber, and Lisa Parak believe that breaking even in the first season of varsity play is reason to be proud.

The streak continues

Nothing can stop Vernon boys soccer. In the past three seasons a mere 9 losses are out weighed by 45 wins. This season's record of 17 and 3 establishes their consistency.

Each year a handful of starters graduate but each fall Coach John Ryan finds replacements from the ranks to pull together a dominant squad. The 86 team was diversified with top county scorer Paul Lech, two other high scorers, juniors Joe Vizzini and Matt Coppola, a solid mid-field led by Scott McBane, defender Joe Janus, and freshman goalie Mark Theniel.

To claim sole ownership of the SCIL championship title the Vikings had to win the last game of the season against arch rival Sparta. The 1-0 decision in Vernon's favor was an especially sweet victory.

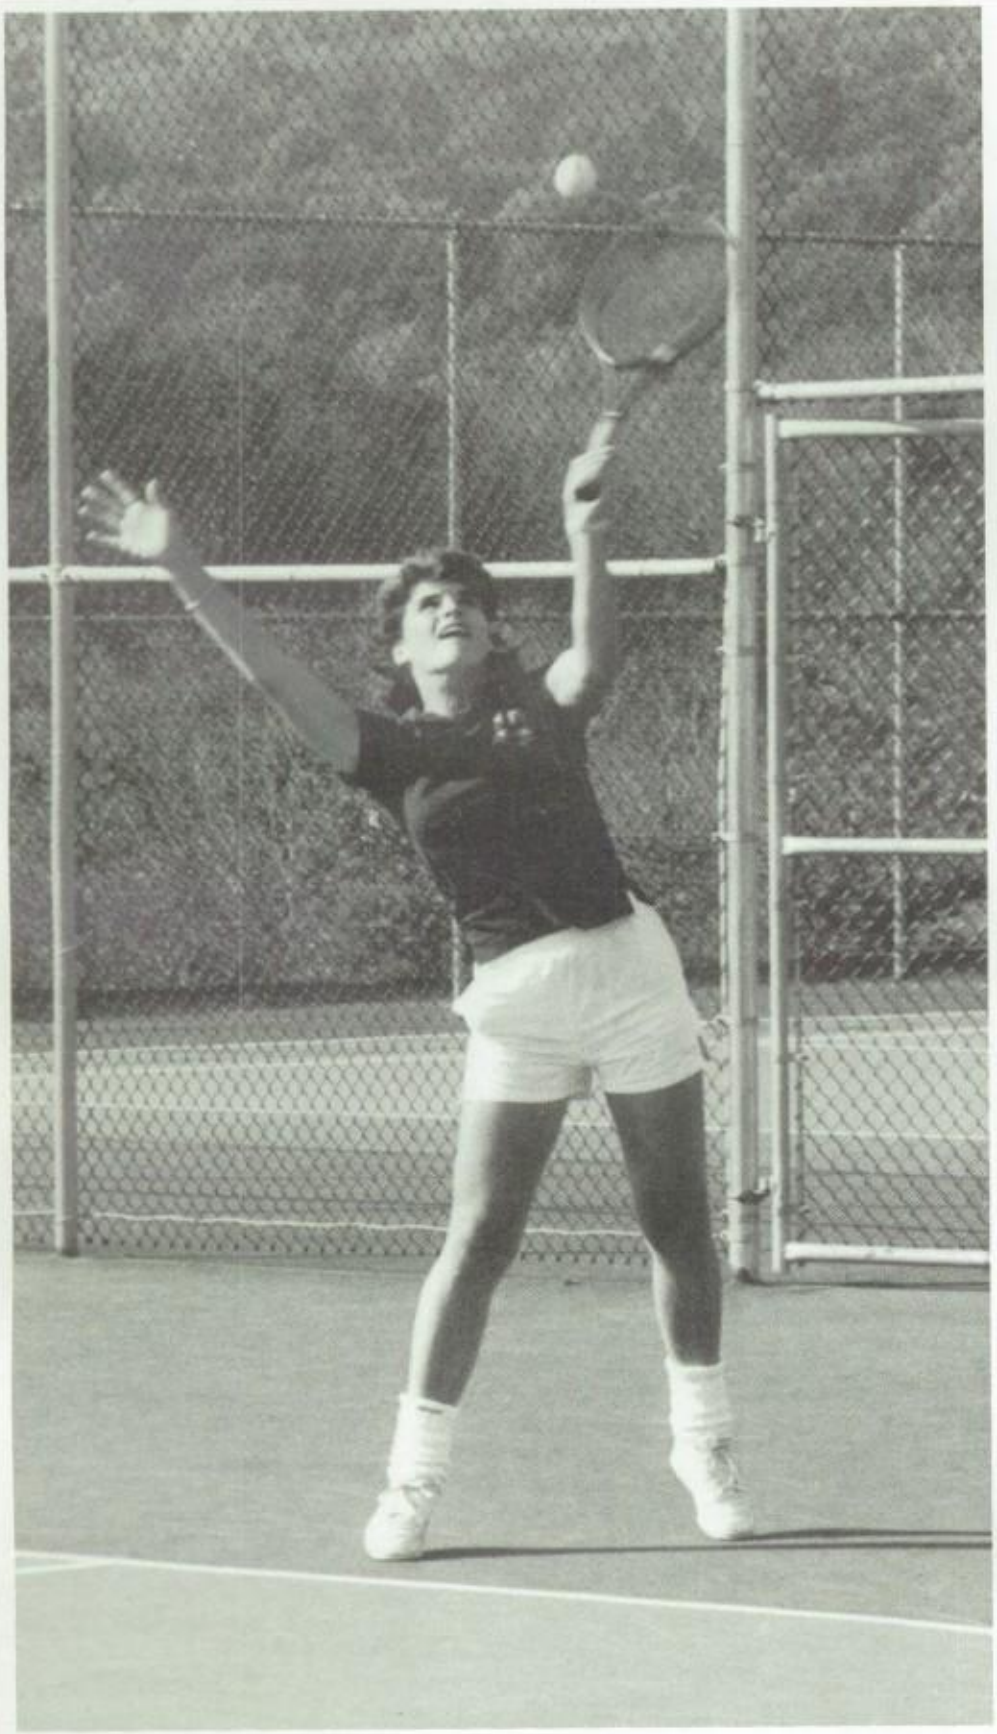
Record Firsts on Girl's Courts

Many things never before accomplished by V.T.H.S. girls tennis teams became part of the record books this year. The accomplishments came of both the team and the individual level.

For the first time in six years our team defeated Lenape Valley by the scores of 5-0, 5-0. We also came very close to defeating a strong Pope John Squad. The first doubles team of Jennifer Rinee and Jill Sammak came up with the only victory of the match, but i was exciting.

"Our record of 4-8 does not really reveal the close matches ou team had this season." explains Mrs. Pat Hardin.



Above: Senior Jennifer Rineer and Jill Sammak (top left) collected thirteen consecutive victories and held the best record of 13-1 in the league at the first doubles position. They were voted to the all SCIL team, the All Area team and All West Jersey team.

Super fall season brought home honors

Every fall team had players selected for All-League status. Three sports--Boys Soccer, Field Hockey, and Boys Cross Country--saw post season action. Girls Tennis, Girls Soccer, and Boys Cross County had individual standout honors.

Both Soccer and Field Hockey had wins in the state playoffs. Soccer defeated Cliffside Park by a score of 4-0 and Ramsey by a score of 3-2. Field Hockey won against Demarest by a score of 1-0. Both teams advanced to sectional championshp games against Northern Highlands teams but both were to come away short. Soccer score was 3-2 and hockey 2-0.

Championship claimed by Vikes

With a 32-2 record in 1986, the boys Ski Team had to live up to their reputation. The talented team, lead by senior captain Harvey Bierman, worked hard with the hope of improving.

Bierman had won the overall state title last year and was looking to repeat the feat. Sophomore John Mulligan had raced on the varsity level as a freshman and trained year round to improve his performances in both the slalom and giant slalom. Senior John Kolacz was another consistent contributor to Viking superiority. Sophomore Dave Boyle and junior Stewart Hargrave fought for cleanup positions.

By season's end the record books indicated 34 wins and only 2 losses which was enough to win the Sussex County Interscholastic League. The most impressive win was aginst 14 other teams in the West Milford Giant Slalom Invitational. The Vikes easily upset the heavily favored West Milford team for the title.

Girls' times good for 5th in state

Even before the weather is cold enough for snow, the members of the Girls Ski Team are tuning and waxing their skiis. Knowledge that the rewards will not come easily keep the Lady Vikings preparing both mentally and physically. Fractions of a second will often be the difference between places in a race.

Tough competition from all opponents particularly the new High Point squad forced the girls to settle for second place in the Sussex County Interscholastic League. In the forefront all season was junior Beth Miller (left) who regularly placed in the top three. Right behind Beth was senior co-captain Gretchen Weigeshoff. Although not an experienced racer, Gretchen's consistency was her key to success. First year team members Lisa Opfer and Lori Turowski finished within the top fifteen. Rounding out the Viking team was junior Erin Roverse and senior co-captain Andrea Quintiere.

In the 1987 NJISRA State Championship Meet held at Hidden Valley Beth Miller came in fifteenth with a time of 103.02. The Girls Ski Team finished fifth overall in both the Slalom and the Giant Slalom with total times of 453.30 and 426.30 respectively.

Depth the winning factor

Although not always given as much credit as they deserve, the boys team had an outstanding season with a record of 8-2. The team placed second in the SCIL, suffering their only defeat to Kittatinny. The boys made it to the North I Division B setionals. In the Susex County Championships, the boys placed fourth overall in a highly competitive race.

The season was highlighted by strong performances by everyone. Junior Paul Peters broke his own record in the 400 freestyle, the only individual record broken throughout the entire season. The combination of Dave Leshnower, Doug Fetchen, Adam Lettieri and Mike Leshnower broke the 400 freestyle relay record as well. The depth of the team enabled the boys to outscore tough competitors like Pope John, Vo-Tech and Sparta.

Swimmers post terrific season

With the experienced varsity members and the addition of talented freshmen, the girls' swim team was able to make their high expectations for their first season of competitive swimming come true. The girls captured the first undefeated SCIL title.

Also for the first time the girls participated in state competition and won the North I Division B Sectional title. The team went on to the state semi-finals where they suffered their only loss of the season to Randolph. The Sussex County Championships saw the girls outscore the rest of the teams in Sussex County by 30 points.

With each competition, records were broken. A total of 8 out of 10 were improved during the season. Freshman Dawn Schmalzriedt led the way with five records including the 200 IM, 50 freestyle, 100 butterfly, 100 freestyle and 100 breaststroke. The 200 medley relay of Kerri Peters, Janice Woods, Liza Sharkey and Dawn Schmalzriedt were undefeated in SCIL competition.

Best record in ten years

Predicted to finish nineth in the league by the pre-season polls, the girls varsity basketball team fought their way to fourth place. Many teams took Vernon for granted and regretted it. The fans had reason to cheer.

Because the team did not have a "star" player, teamwork and aggressive play were essential to earn recognition and respect in the league. The varisty squad was charcteristized by the depth on the bench. Leading the team were captains Michele VanAtta, Carol Ignatieff and Patti Dzikowicz. A special and dedicatd senior, Jen Smith, strengthened the team with her attitude and enthusiasm. Juniors Barbara Wolek and Carol Hibbits saw considerable playing time and helped the Vikes in their outstanding season. Much was contributed by the sophomores Lisa and Laura Lewis and Linda Noelle Repka. Their intensity of play on the court intimidated many opponents. The team was also supported by juniors Chris Lauts and Deanne Leckel and sophomore Robin Reilly.

No one highlight marked this season. The Lady Vikes were out to prove they were better than the polls predicted. For the first time in ten years the Lady Vikes qualified for post season play in both the Sussex County Coaches Association Tournament and the State Playoffs.

Team forces upsets

"It's not if you win or lose, it's how you play the game." was proven valid by this year's boys varsity squad. Game after game the team provided surprise and excitement for their fans.

Capturing the trophy for the Christmas Tournament and making it into the SCIL playoffs were important milestones for the Vikings. The upset of the Jefferson Falcons in the second half of the season was the victory that improved their record to 6-12 and qualified them for the invitational tournament.

The team roster listed only three senior players Paul Schwarz, Bill Foley and John O'Shaughnessy. When Coach Edelman was asked who his key players were, he said "the team." And a team effort it was. Individual standouts varied from game to game but the end result was always a team effort.

Matmen show improvement

The first winning season in Vernon wrestling history was posted by the 1987 team. The senior captains that lead the way to a 10-7 record were Vince Ditta and Russ Rogers. Underclassmen played an extremely important part in the final tally. Standouts were freshmen Pete Korin (right), juniors Brian Peragine, Ted Rogers and Mike Malvaney.

All members of the varsity team wrestled at the district level of competition and two were fortunate enough to qualify for the regionals--Ted Rogers and Mark Godfrey. Districts were at Kittatinny and regionals at Wallkill Valley.

Winter accomplishments

Making states is what every athlete works for. This winter season Ted Rogers, Dawn Schmalzriedt and many members of the ski team, achieved their individual goals. Team wise, Girls Basketball qualified for state competition. The team played their first state game in 10 years against Bergenfield. After a strong attempt the team lost by a score of 31-57.

Ted Rogers, held a seasonal wrestling record of 21-4. Ted made it to the state quarterfinals before he was decisioned by Pettinelli of Phillipburg.

Dawn Schmalzriedt, Vernon's top swimmer is considered "Sussex County's Rookie of the Year," says the New Jersey Herald. Dawn clocked her best time of 1:21.8 in the breaststroke this winter. Dawn was a double winner at the county championships, taking the 100 breaststroke in 1:22.19, and the 100 freestyle in 1:03.77. Dawn then went to the state meet in Lawrenceville where she clocked a 1:03.66 in the 100m freestyle to take 25th and was timed in 1:23.02 in the breaststroke for a 24th place finish.

Individual effort triggers team success

With eleven returning varisty members from the 1986 Co-SCIL championship team, retaining the title was the primary goal for the girls' track and field squad.

The team was led by seniors Lisa Parak (state discus champion) and Jen Rineer (group shot put champion). Other strong contributors to the team's success were junior Carol Hibbits (all league distance runner), junior Karen Batchelor (high jumper and hurdler) and sophomore Jennifer Cox (sprinter).

Coach Gastaldello, otherwise known as Ms. G, and her new assistant coach Mrs. Sally Barkand were pleased with the determination of the forty-member team. They said "this is the hardest working group of girls we have seen in a long time."

The season officially began on April 7 with a non-league meet against Kinnelon. Pre-season scrimmages gave the girls a chance to test their skills.

Right: Lisa Parak holds the school and county records in both the discus and javelin. Her best official distance for the discus as of April 13 was 143 feet 2 inches.

Combination of talent and effort successful

"A very young team that looks quite promising" is how Coach John Ryan described the boys who came out for track this year. The squad has a nucleus of thirteen returning lettermen.

The proven successes that were expected to do even better this season were Vince Ditta in the sprints, Carl Schotter in the middle distances and Anthony Graham in the hurdles. Bill Hollar, Chris Tenkin, Paul Romano and Jeff Kraus improved their distances in the weight events and Mark DiGuilio his height in the high jump. SCIL 3200 meter Champion is junior Rich Falcone. Sophomores Kevin Peragine contributed his speed on the track and Rich Buckley in the high jump and hurdles.

The 1986 season record was 6 wins and 3 losses which was good for third place in the SCIL. The coach and the team looked for an improvement based on experience of the letterman and the enthusiasm of the hopefuls.

Linksters hoped to tie 86 record

Graduation 1986 took three of the top four golfers out of the Viking team lineup. Coach Crisman said, "They're going to be tough to replace," but he is looking to seniors Bob Labar, Russ Rogers and Jason Meissner to become the Vernon leaders. The 1986 team had a record of 9-9.

Farmstead was to be the location for most of the matches and Sparta was once again the team to beat.

First tennis title within team's reach

Improving on an extraordinary season isn't easy but for the Viking boys tennis team it was possible. The 87 team lost only one player to graduation so the team was full of talent and experience.

Leading the way at first singles for the third consecutive year was Jim Reiser. Last year Jim was third in the county. In his second year of tennis competition, Bill Foley followed Jim. Paul Schwarz rounded out the singles division.

Opener against West Milford gives Viking their first win

With the return of five lettermen including three seniors and the experience and training they acquired over the years, the Vikings were expected to have a strong 87 season.

The key to the season according to Coach Mayer would have to be found within the season's first two weeks. The turnout for this year was large and that gave the coaches many choices for the open positions. At the start of the season final decisions were not made but seniors Mike Olsen and Dave Wacker and junior Bill Hines were ready to pitch.

13 seniors on diamond

Experience was the key to the season when thirteen seniors returned to the diamond for Varsity Softball Coach Robert Trenz.

In the infield was Michele VanAtta at shortstop and Karen Swezy at first base, both with considerable varsity experience. The outfield was controlled by centerfielder Dawn Huey whose hitting was a great asset to the offensive lineup. Other returning letter winners were Pattie Williamson, Kim Runge, Maryellen Meichsner, Marlene Lindner, Patty McGill and Noelle Stewart.

Experienced pitchers were really important to a stable team effort. The skill was provided by Patty McGill and Noelle Stewart.

Beyond

Curriculum at Vernon Township High School carries the student beyond the confines of the walls into the realm of the mind. Pride in accomplishments and pride in staff lead to a successful learning environment.

New at Vernon in 1986-87 are Mr. Daniel Brodhead and Mrs. Marcia DiGuilio of the Physical Education Department, Ms. Marti Staudinger and Ms. Elenor Begala of the Science Department, Mrs. Geraldine Desmet on the Business Staff, and Ms. Ruth Dampmann in Foreign Languages. Mrs. Barbara Dul joined the staff as an attendance clerk.

Programs were added or took new turns. Mr. Paul DeCoste and Mr. William Donald are teaching an all new theatre curriculum. Mr. McKay's English classes held a video festival of student originals. Mr. William Gerbracht and Mr. Jay Schweitzer staged an authentic Japanese tea ceremony for art students.

Honors and grants came to Vernon as well. Mr. Powell was a recipient of the Governor's Teacher Recognition Award. Mr. Cannevale was honored with the Princeton Award. Mrs. Franklin nominated for Outstanding Teacher of Chemistry. Board of Education grants went to Mr. Gerbracht, Mr. Schweitzer, and Mr. Brian Paul.

Yes, the curriculum and the people take the students more than one step beyond these walls.

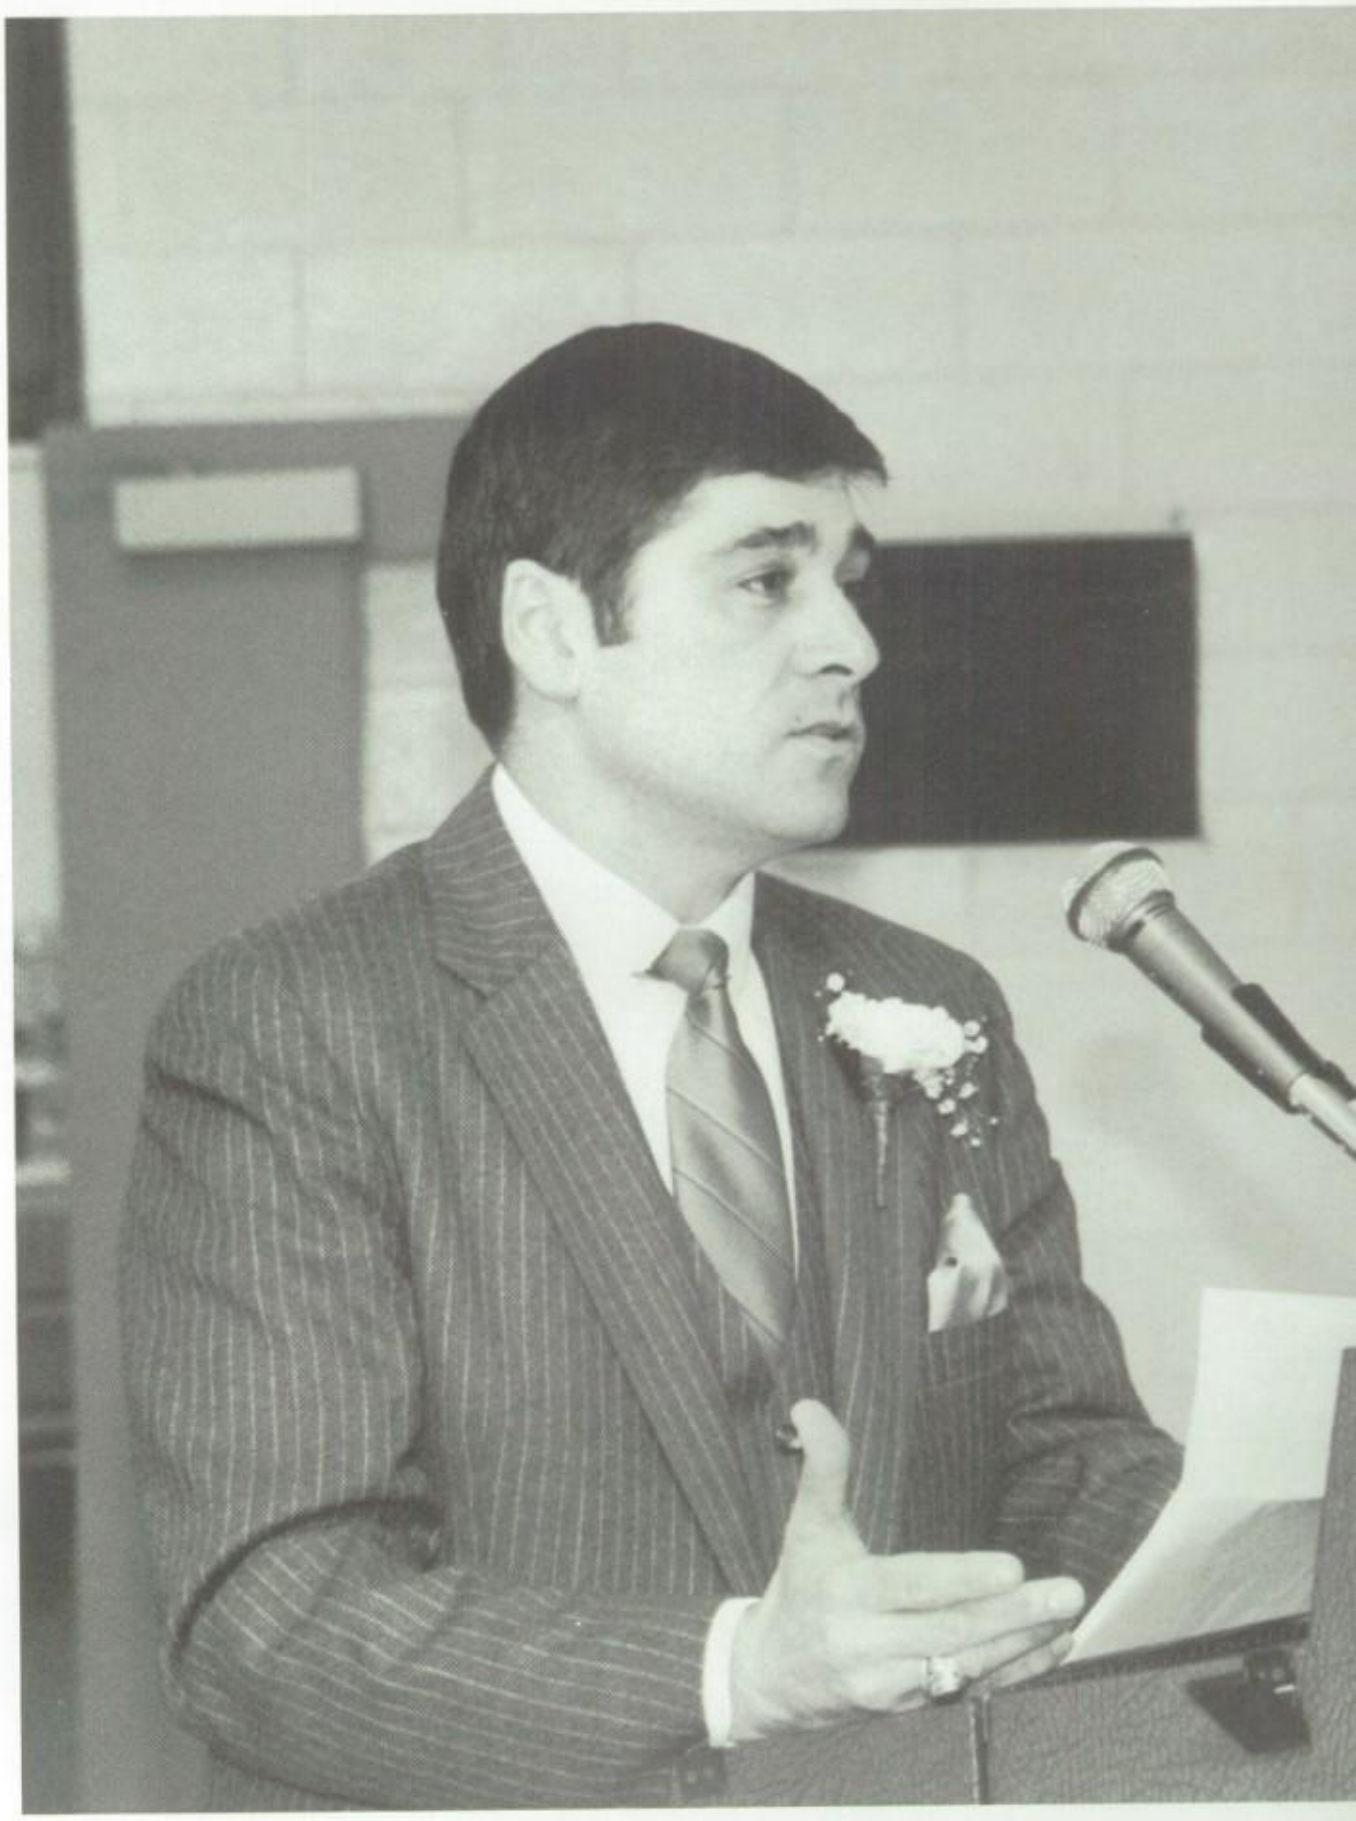
SCA officially welcomes new administration

On Monday evening, January 26, at 7:30 p.m. the School and Community Association hosted a reception to officially welcome to three new high school administrators to Vernon Township. Board members, other district administrators, town officials, staff members and members of the community were in addition to convey their best wishes to the newcomers.

The three members of the all new administrative team of Vernon Township High School are in agreement that the job is a challenge and the students are well disciplined. They believe the school is well cared for and the setting beautiful.

Dr. Anthony Toriello (right) comes to us from Morris Hills where he was assistant principal for six years. His major in college was industrial education and he taught drafting and woods at Pascack Hills for seven years. Dr. Toriello feels that getting the opportunity to interact with students, the community and staff is an important aspect of his job.



Dr. George Iannacone, Superintendent of Schools, was master of ceremonies for the reception and introduced the honored guests to the audience.

Mr. Patrick Rizzuto, President of the Board of Education, expressed the opinion that a high school principal is second in importance only to that of superintendent.

Mrs. Maryanne DeFalco, SCA executive, and her committee were forced to do extra work for the reception because the original plans were cancelled due to snow.

Vice principal Ms. Barbara Thomson (left) comes to us from Warren County where she taught business for eight years. Her undergraduate major was in social studies and her master's work was in business. Ms. Thomson is continuing her education with doctoral work at Rutgers. She started working at Vernon in August and as a result can now claim seniority as a VTHS administrator.

Mr. Manuel Ferreira (right), also a vice principal and originally from Florida, taught computer science for five years. His college major was in mathematics and computer science. Mr. Ferreira was assistant principal for ten years at North Bergen High School.

The trio sees the school as an institution with high standards of academic excellence. Continuing this tradition, adjustments will be made to the curriculum as needed and the activity programs expanded to meet student needs.

Secretary is valued helpmate of new VP

The new secretary to the new vice principal is Mrs. Jan Hennings. She is not new to Vernon High just new to this job. Mrs. Hennings worked in the guidance department for five years and enjoys the contact she has with the students.

The change that Mrs. Hennings made was just part of a larger change in the administration of the building. For a while, Vice Principal Thomson was the only full time high school administrator in the building. So, hectic described the job. The routine aspects of the work rapidly fell into place as Mrs. Hennings used her skills to take dictation, type, handle correspondence and do some filing. The most important skill she brings to her job is her ability to relate to all the people with whom she works.

Mrs. Hennings is studying business education at Upsala and would like to teach when she has her B.A. degree. Her practical experience will give added depth to what she will have to offer her students.

Interim term helped develop mutual respect

The man from the other side of town arrived on the scene to take charge of Vernon's high school. Dr. George Iannacone (left), Superintendent of Schools, was known as the boss who issued directives and made the rules. In his four month tenure as interim principal the students and staff got acquainted with the person behind the title and a mutual respect developed.

Of his experience, Dr. Iannacone wrote, "It was my delight to be with the high school student body from September through December in 1986. During that time I had the special chance and opportunity to meet with a number of you personally. On every occasion, on each day during those four months, I was consistently impressed by the extraordinary quality of our high school students. The Class of 1987 fulfilled my hopes for a High School Senior Class committed and dedicated to the very best aspects of American education and American citizenship. May the future bring you fulfillment in your life's work and may you always remember your time as a high school student with fond and dear memories."

Anatomy dissections
part of curriculum

Evaluation of the curriculum is an ongoing activity and as a result of a current study the Science Department plans to delete semester courses. The reorganization should better meet the needs of the student body and allow an easier interpretation of student records by college admission staffs.

Part of the curriculum includes four class sections of Anatomy. Students in this area of science are challenged with the dissection of the fetal (unborn) pig. The lab project was set up by instructors Ilene Franklin and Gaylon Powell to improve student skills of observation as well as their manual dexterity with scapels and probes.

Add bulk and strength

A weight lifting program for juniors and seniors has been introduced into the physical education curriculum this year. Each individual class of boys and girls combined lifts every third week for ten weeks.

Another aspect of the program involves two teachers in the county DWI/SADD task force. Twelve students from Vernon and 70 from the county make up the total force which is aimed at stopping both adults and teenagers from drinking and driving. A meeting is held once a month to organize activities to help make others aware of the seriousness of the problem.

Junior Dan Forrester is the chairperson of the Vernon group and the Vice-President of the county committee. Fund raisers such as dances are held to pay for radio announcements, billboards and posters.

City sights impressive

"Great trip," said several of the students that went on the cultural excursion to New York City on December 19. About 50% of the students who went had never been in the city before and another 50 % had never been to a museum.

The first stop on the trip was the World Trade Center where an elevator was used to travel to the 107th floor. From that height, the Statue of Liberty looked about two inches tall. The view of New York harbor from the top of the trade tower was a favorite. Still others remarked on the structure of the Brooklyn Battery Bridge or how small the cars looked on the streets below.

The second destination was a few blocks away at South Street Seaport. Clipper ships, small shops and cafes beckoned. From the seaport the group passed by the Pan Am building which they learned was originally built to use solar power but faces away from the sun.

Columbus Circle was the lunch stop. At Rockefeller Center the tree was admired. The group crossed Fifth Avenue for a guided tour of St. Patrick's Cathedral. Vic Zuccarelli was so impressed with the church that he gave others a guided tour.

Finally, the group arrived at the Museum of Natural History which has four floors and displays everything from dinosaurs to gems. When asked for her personal favorite Jayne Preste said, "the fluorescent rocks and gems."

Mr. William R. Donald, Jr. (B.F.A.--Ohio University, M.A.--Penn State University) is the author of a totally new curriculum in theatre arts. Freshmen Eugene Arnold is currently enrolled in the Stagecraft course and is working on set construction for the show "Dark of the Moon." Other courses included in the program are Principles of Acting, Theatre Arts and Speech.

On their own odyssey, seniors Gretchen Weigeshoff and Erica Berman followed clues in order to complete their journey.

Mr. Charles McKay thoughtfully waits in his classic pose which may someday rival Rodin's thinker in fame.

Art Educators of New Jersey selected Vernon to exhibit art work at their permanent art gallery located at Newark Airport in the United Terminal. Fifty-three district students had their work hung by seniors Shannon Erickson, Lisa Parak and Dan Hennings under the supervision of Mr. Jay Schweitzer.

Junior Karen Ash and senior Jeff Zduniak are served the ceremonial tea by Mr. William Gerbracht in the Japanese tradition.

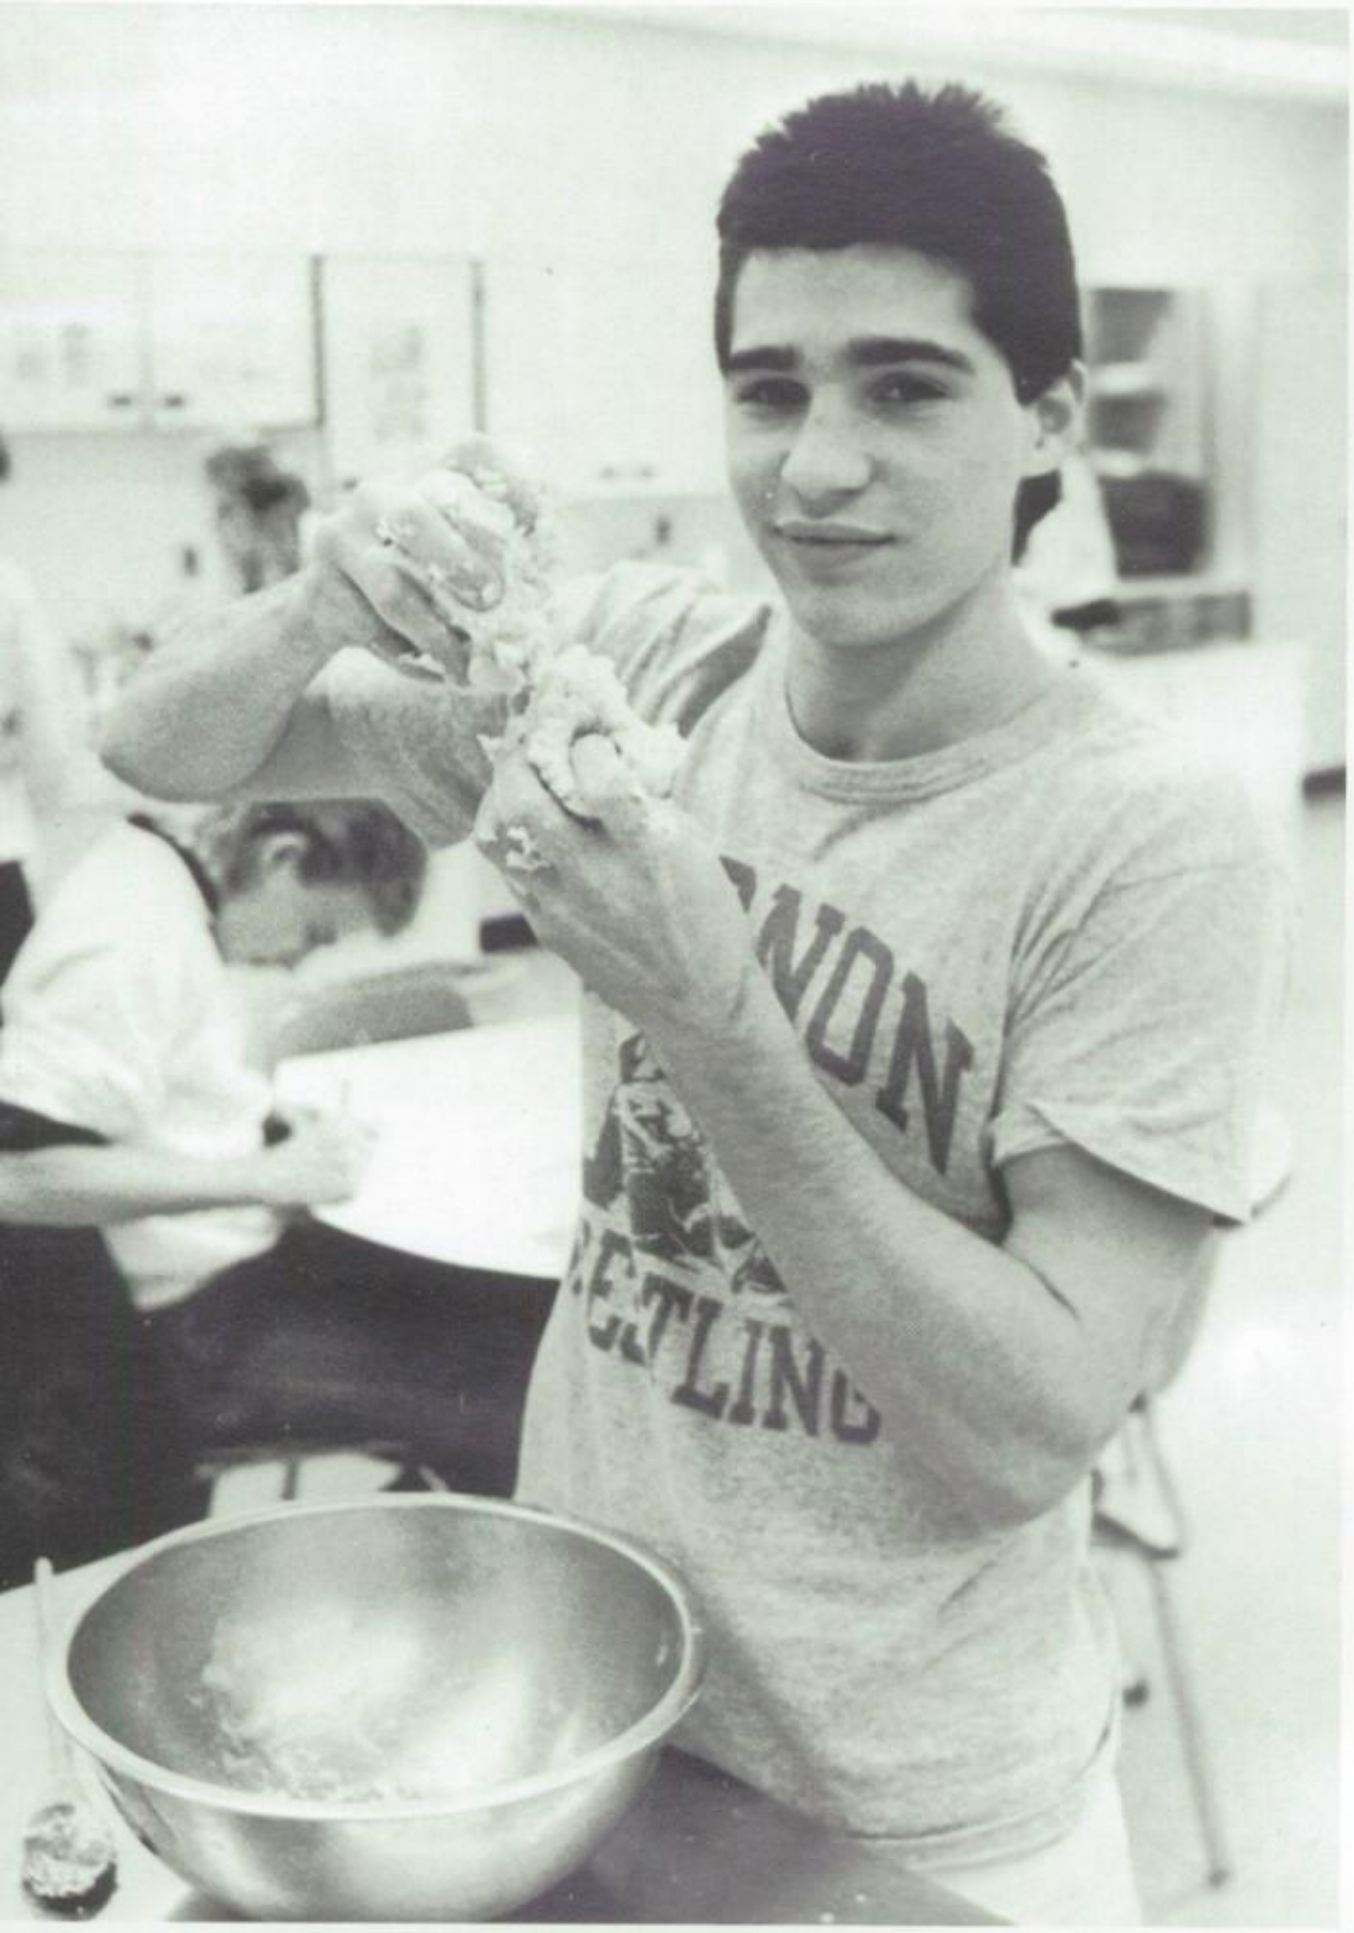
Something new

As the result of a grant from the Vernon Board of Education to Mr. Jay Schweitzer and Mr. William Gerbracht, Art Major students were able to re-create a Japanese tea ceremony. Each student made a tea cup out of stoneware and fired it in a raku kiln. The project was designed to instill respect and admiration for the Japanese cultural tradition of Tea.

Harmony, respect, purity, and tranquility are the four principles that underlie all the practical rules of Tea and represent at the same time its highest ideals. The harmony is the result of interaction of the host and guest, the food served and the utensils used. Respect is the sincerity of heart that liberates the participants. Purity is the simple act of cleaning in preparation, serving, and storing of the ceremonial pieces. Tranquility is the aesthetic concept unique to Tea which comes with the constant practice of the other three principles.

Mr. William Gerbracht, often referred to as Mr. "G," examines a ceramic piece from inside the kiln cage. Mr. Gerbracht was Vernon High's second teacher of the month.

Preparing the corn meal for tortillas, senior Darrin Koziel find mixing the dough a sloppy but relatively easy task. Not all tasks are that easy in American Cooking which is designed to improve and expand student skills and interest in preparing foods from all regions of the United States. Tex-Mex is a favorite.



Halloween parties scheduled for the nursery school program are planned and supervised by senior Dawn Huey and other students.

Senior Maryellen Meichsner encourages sharing and cooperation with the two youngsters in her charge. This is just one job associated with the Child Care lab.

Food service careers require more training

Field trips to the Culinary Institute in Hyde Park, New York, and Sullivan County Community College in Loch Aheldrake, New York, provided students in the home economics department to check out facilities for furthering their education in the food service industry.

At the Institute a slide show provided general orientation and then groups of ten went on tour. A similar presentation was made at the college.

Prior to working in Vernon, he taught for six years at Nutley High School.

Mr. Poplaski teaches Computer Math 1 and 2. He got his education at Fairleigh Dickinson and Montclair State University.

America's greatest symbol of freedom and opportunity is a piece of paper. A paper on which the foundation of our country was built, the United States Constitution. September 17, 1987 will mark the bicentennial of the signing of this document. Plans are now underway to prepare for the celebration.

Workshops were attended by individuals who expressed a particular interest in this topic. Mr. Owens and Mr. Barta went to Rutgers and Ms. Simpkins to New York City. The new approaches for the classroom as well as enthusiasm for the subject benefits the student.

The course that concentrates on the study of the constitution from the historical view is U.S. I. Law Today concentrates on how the constitution relates to everyday life today. It deals specifically with the limitations of society, the purpose of the law, the rights and liberties of the American people, law enforcement. trade, taxes, and the public debt.

Wave of the future

is today's reality

The main emphasis in the business program is the micro-omputer. The steady rise in course enrollment is directly elated to the need for computer skills in the business world.
he courses using the IBM Personal Computers are Account-
g, Business Applications of the Microcomputer, and Word rocessing.

Take a closer look at Corrective Services

According to teachers, "Corrective services is just another name for individualized instruction." Too many times students perceive the corrective classes as anything other than what they truly are. One student explained, "the classes simply go into the various subjects with a different approach."

The instructional classes in English, Speech, Math, History, and Science help students to better understand their subjects and themselves. The practical side of the curriculum deals with life skills and preparation for the work force.

No limits for electrical energy

With a grant from the State of New Jersey Department of Vocational Education, VTHS purchased a new IBM AT personal computer. Advanced Architecture and Machine Drawing classes are fortunate enough to be able to work with this new piece of equipment. The computer has almost unlimited capabilities with top of the line Auto Cad software.

Kevin Koenig (below right) demonstrates one option, the Digitizing Table for drawing. After the drawing is completed on the table it can be enlarged on the Houston Institute plotter down to the finest detail.

Right: Sean Laird in electronics class demonstrates Ohm's Law using human subject Doreen Smith and 30,000 volts of electricity but with little current.

Vernon home of N.J. Master Music Teacher

Music teacher in the state of New Jersey for 23 years, Mr. David S. Jones (left) has been Director of Instrumental Music at Vernon Township High School for five years. In late spring of 1986, Mr. Jones was named Master Music Teacher by the Music Educators of New Jersey.

Mr. Jones received his B.S. in Music Education from Wilkes College and his Master's in Music Education from Montclair State. Prior to coming to Vernon he has had a long history of directing bands and a life long love of music.

Mr. Jones currently serves as President of the Sussex County Music Educators Association and will manage the 1986 All State Wind Ensemble. He was also Corresponding Secretary of Region I of NJMEA and is now President Elect.

His students know Mr. Jones as an exacting task master but the many awards and superior ratings in marching and concert performances are the result.

Students lacked

resistence to flu

"They were the worst days I've had in my twenty year career as a school nurse," said Mrs. Kay McGrath when she talked about the strain of flu that wiped out 24% of the student population for three consecutive days.

During the week of December 12-19 anyone that walked into the nurse's office would be greeted by at least a dozen sick students on cots, chairs, and even the floor. Students reported to Mrs. MCGrath complaining of sore throat, headache, upset stomach, and an ache all-over feeling. Mrs. McGrath gave them a routine check and contacted their parents. Each day she had to send home at least twenty seriously ill students.

Control center in guidance

The Guidance Deparment can be considered the heart of the school. Just as life supporting blood flows to and from that muscle, students come and go seeking advise to make the right choices for their courses or careers. Grades, report cards, warning and commendation notices, working papers, and student records are filed in this center.

Individual and small group counselling is provided. Mini-college fairs, College Night, and Career Day open further doors for exploring students.

Guitarists range from

Mellow to Hard Core

Though learning to play the guitar doesn't seem like a difficult task to conquer, it can be quite a struggle. Any stringed instrument requires great concentration and a heavy financial investment.

On days when there's time, or even if they have to make time, guitar enthusiasts play and play and play. Vernon seniors involved with this hobby have been playing the guitar for at least three years and some as many as five. All are musicians striving to improve their skills whether for a career goal or for fun.

The type of music played reflects the personality of the individual performer. Whatever is played, the sounds they make are music to our ears.

Availability and training are requirements for volunteers

An ambulance squad volunteer gives much more than just his or her time. Each volunteer must be willing to test his or her courage in saving lives.

To be a certified emergency medical technician, training is required and takes at least three hours per day, twice a week,for a period of three months. Intense CPR practice is held once a week. A trained volunteer need only complete a six week course but training continues with every call. Each volunteer must be willing to offer his/her time without limitations for each twelve hour shift.

Anchors Away

The class of '87 set sail on a voyage of victory, claiming the trophy for most spirit.

On Sunday, October 5, fifteen workers appeared to decorate the halls with signs, anchors and fish. On Monday, sweats, hats, and buttons earned points. On Tuesday, your favorite music was part of your attire. Wednesday was class color day. Seniors wore red. Thursday was surf punk day and Friday blue-gold day. Classic '87 was the Senior class banner.

The categories in which seniors won the trophy were best decorated hallways, the yell-off, and most overall spirit.

Competition with self and others motivates Hogan and Coppola

Self-defense was the main reason that Joe Coppola and Brendan Hogan began studying the martial arts. They started by learning multiple stretches, kicks, and hand techniques while they were in elementary school. Since then they have picked up many first and second place awards. Brendan has his brown belt and expects to earn his black belt within the year. Success in the martial arts comes from developing perfect form, coordination, and balance.

Lessons are given at the Vernon Valley Karate Academy every Tuesday and Thursday from 7:30 to 9:00 p.m. and on Saturdays from 10:30 a.m. to noon. Like Joe and Brendan, all devotees of the art will continue to practice to polish their skills.

Too packed to park

One hundred stickers were issued in September to one hundred lucky seniors who then had the privelege of driving to school and parking on school property.

With limited space available permits were allotted on a first come, first served basis to those students who qualified. An after school job, membership on an athletic team, or involvement with drama was necessary.

Until more grass is covered with asphalt only two-fifths of the graduating class will be able to enjoy the coveted privilege. One hundred and forty are left to bum a ride or use those yellow buses.

Search finds place

Searching for the right place to hold a prom is not easy. The Class of 1987 Prom Committee worked since last spring to find a special place to host its prom. Four places were visited--Birchwood Manor, Regency House, Skylands, and Governor Morris Inn. The Birchwood Manor in Whippany was selected because of its excellent reputation for high standards. Mrs. Pat Clancy liked Birchwood because "their staff went out of their way to accommodate our needs." The manager agreed to use the Atrium as the setting for the social hour. Approximately 300 were expected to attend on May 22.

The Prom Committee also had to look for a photographer who would include invitations and favors. The class used money from the treasury to pay for the band, enabling the bids to be sold at a more reasonable price. The planning was done by class advisor and committee members, Patti Sullivan, Jen Rineer, and Vicky Sherwood.

Lazarine works at both studying and teaching dance

After eleven years of dance instruction and training, Jacqueline Lazarine was offered a student teaching position at Christie School of Dance. She accepted the job and now plans to continue the study of dance at the college level.

Every Tuesday through Saturday Jacqueline teaches ballet and tap to children between the ages of three and eleven. Jacqueline says she enjoys teaching and has always found the time to balance the demands of school and work.

For the first time the privilege had to be earned

Bagels, donuts, danishes, juice, coffee, and hot chocolate at school are part of the privilege of having senior homeroom in the cafeteria. But privileges aren't traditional any more at Vernon Township High, they have to be earned. The class of 1987 demonstrated the necessary responsibility to have homeroom moved to the cafeteria but had some strict guidelines handed down by the administration. Each senior must sign in with the homeroom teacher by 7:48 a.m. Everyone is also responsible for cleaning up after him- or herself and for pushing in the chairs.

Don't forget or else...

Hennings' creativity knows no bounds

"Mosaic Man" started Dan Hennings on his road to artistic fame and the end of that journey can only be imagined. Dan was recommended to and accepted at the New Jesey School of the Arts at Montclair State College. On Saturdays last fall he attended with other gifted high school artists to study on the college level. The program was designed to force the talented to stretch the limits of their imagination and use their skills more creatively.

Dan represented our county when he was only a freshmen at the State Teen Arts Festival. That same year he was one of two artists selected from Sussex County to have his work ("Mosaic Man") tour the state. As a junior Dan was nominated to the Governor's School in Fine Arts and inducted into the National Art Honor Society.

Competition stressed at Killington

Serious about ski racing? Better believe it! Rose Scarola has been going to Killington Mountain School since her sophomore year. She attended during the months of December, January, and February. Not all fun and games, Rose says "the training is very hard and keeping up with your school work is up to you."

Killington Mountain School is located in Vermont and the entire school consists of 25-30 students all working toward the same goal. As a result, it is naturally competitive but students help one another. Rose skied and trained on Killington Mountain in the morning and had academic classes in the afternoon. On weekends she raced and stayed with a Vermont family.

Lonsiak rides the ramps with great ease

Mastering a handplant or doing a 360 wheelie on the streets of Vernon is the way Pete Lonsiak spends his spare time. Pete picked up his first skateboard at the age of 12 and learned to perfect his skills by reading magazines and fooling around with his friends. He has learned challenging feats such as ollies, 90 degree wall vertices and hurtles. Pete has all his own equipment which consists of a skateboard, knee pads and helmet representing a total expenditure of about two hundred dollars. During the summer of 1987, Pete plans to ride on the ramps in Cherry Hill, New Jersey.

Rural character of Vernon is changing

According to Pete Borisuk and Keith Van Althius, farming in the 80's has joined the world of technology and is more modern than average person believes. Computers have made big inroads in farming and aid the farmer in many ways. For example, when a cow walks up to a feeder in the field, a computer in the house notes which cow is feeding and the exact amount of feed that cow should receive. This scientific precision rids the farmer of guesswork and tediuous computations.

The Borisuks have lived and farmed in Vernon for nearly twenty years. Their farm pictured below is located on Maple Grange Road and consists mostly of dairy animals and cornfields. The future of farming in Sussex County is questionable and with the right offer any prime land is up for sale.

Is it Friday, yet?

Traveling parties are a way of life in Vernon. Some parties even change location four times a night--perhaps from a cabin to a field and then back to the cabin. However, most parties are held in students' homes with parental approval. The atmosphere is friendly and meeting people from other schools is possible. Famous for their love of parties are John Egan and Stephanie White, chosen by the Senior Class in the annual poll as symbolic of "Is it Friday yet?"

Kensek builds and designs cabinets

Sixty hours per week, expensive insurance, tools, and expertise are all that's required to run your own business. Senior Jim Kensek established Kensek Construction in June of 1986 and works as a sub contractor for Bauer Construction doing siding, roofing, and small additions to existing structures.

Jim began his work with woods in fifth grade at Lounsberry Hollow with instruction from Mr. John Fennimore, Mr. Mark Megna, and Mr. Mark Wallace. His first project was a wall sconce. Since then Jim has developed his working knowledge to the level at which he is capable of designing and building a custom kitchen as a requirement of his Cabinetmaking class. Jim gives Mr. Robert Trenz and Mr. Rolf Warncke credit for teaching him ninety percent of what he knows about woodworking. His high school courses included Introduction to Woodworking, Introduction to Woods, Machine Woods, and Cabinetmaking.

Jim built a traditional colonial grandfather clock out of cherry wood in his junior year at Vernon and entered the finished product in the North Jersey Craftsmens Fair at Paramus Mall in May 1986. Jim walked away with the Best in Show award. The clock contains Mason and Sullivan movements that cost $720. Jim estimates that the labor took 366 hours.

Nothing succeeds like success

Success carries a different definition for different people. Vince Ditta believes success is synonomous with establishing a comfortable position in society from which one is able to enjoy living. For Radhika Chopra success is achievement that comes by good planning, determination, and hard work. Both Vince and Radhika were selected by their classmates as the most likely to succeed.

And the choice is logical because both have already succeeded and have a long line of achievements. Vince has been a member of the varsity wrestling team since his sophomore year. Radhika is the president of the National Honor Society and is ranked #1 in the senior class.

In the future, Vince intends to become a career officer in the United States Army.Part of Vince's personal dream is the successful command of a troop. Radhika plans to attend a four year college and major in international business and finance or French.

Class of 1987

October 10, 1986

Working together is key to success

Many things have to be taken into consideration when organizing a project. A lot of behind the scenes work is always involved in every fund raiser and class activity. "The key to success is working together" says Mrs. Clancy, class adviser.

For the past two years, Chris Dickson (right) has been using his artistic abilities to help the class. Last year he airbrushed the winning banner and constructed the subway doors for the entrance at the junior prom in the gym. This year, Chris again made the class banner for spirit week and worked with Mike Grefski, Jeff Zduniak, Kerri Peters, Joe Duffy, Glen DeBiasa and Rhonda Price on the first video yearbook. Lisa Parak has also contributed her talents to benefit the class. She designed and painted the class mural, a senior project.

Another senior project is the handling of the Viking Booth during the fall season. The booth was opened for business at every home football game and at the semi-pro football game which was a benefit for the radon protest. This year the Viking Booth made the largest profit in the history of the school. Part of the reason for this success was the oganization of the project by chairperson Glen DeBiasa.

Mrs. Pat Clancy discusses upcoming events with the class during senior homeroom in the cafeteria.

Left: In February, the senior class sponsored a sundae sale during all lunch mods. Dr. Anthony Toriello, Mr. Manny Ferreira and Mr. Gary Sparta help chairperson Erica Berman scoop out the ice cream so that customers may create their own concoctions. Senior Glen DeBiasa handles the finances and reports that a healthy profit was made for the class treasury.

Dedication required of all thespians

Currently president of the International Thespian Society, Stephanie Donald has a long list of accomplishments. She moved to Vernon in her junior year and she has already made a name for herself at VTHS. Last year she appeared in The Sound of Music and Back County Crimes. Besides acting, Stephanie has a wide background in the musical field. She plays the piano, saxophone, flute, and also composes music.

Rich McFarlane's accomplishments include being in the casts of The Sound of Music, Back County Crimes, and Anything Goes. Before he made his debut on stage he worked behind the scenes. Rich is also an active member of the Thespian Society.

Winners in sports add another award to their collections

Winners of the class athlete senior poll pictured below were Lisa Parak and Paul Schwarz. Both are active members in Vernon's sports program and are recipients of Viking club Awards. Besides receiving this prestigeous Club award for track and field and basketball, Lisa has been inducted into the Sussex County Athletic Hall of Fame. Paul's Club Award was given to him for his contributions to the Tennis Team. He is also a member of the basketball and soccer teams.

That first step

...into high school has got to be the hardest for most freshmen but with the help of senior advisers each step becomes easier. Annually, a group of seniors is selected to help freshmen adapt to new surroundings. A special trip to Fairview Lakes was planned to enable the advisers to learn more about themselves.

Activities were designed to learn to deal with peer pressure, to work with others, to meet new people, and to develop a group identity. Specific techniques were taught to increase the ability to listen and encourage sharing. Improving self-esteem and combating apathy were part of the verbal and nonverbal communication skills workshop. Everyone that attended the workshop came away with a greater sense of responsibility for the task ahead and a new awareness of leadership potential.

Freshmen are the direct beneficiaries and both Christine Bremer and Barbara Clausell agreed that the seniors told them "about the school, the teachers, the courses, and told them how to fit in." Chris said, "Freshmen tend to hang out only with other freshmen but getting to know a special senior made us feel more welcome."

Right: Harvey Bierman participates in the last activity of the weekend, an agaility contest. Below: The closing session (left) of the training program was held in the main building after lunch on Monday and the opening orientation (right) conducted by Mr. Michael Cannavale was on Sunday morning.

Senior Advisers (in alphabetical order): Chris Beltrone, Erica Berman, Maureen Blandino, Michele Chiaramonte, Radhika Chopra, Amy Congdon, Andrea DeGraaf, Barbara Ann DeOlden, Debbie Dippold, Mike Bajar, Joe Ballard, Cary Begraft, Jon Bonney, Harvey Bierman, Glen DeBiasa, Stephanie Donald, Shannon Erickson, Mary Jo Galati, Kim Hennessy, Nancy Iler, Jackie Jenson, Kristen Kleedorfer, Jennifer Koestler, Marlene Linder, Ben Garrison, John Grube, Dan Hennings, Joe Janus, Chris Kelter, Jay Kotowski, Diana McHorney, Shannon Muchka, Lisa Parak, Kathleen Pasetty, Andrea Quintiere, Jeff Kraus, Sean McGrath, Mike Olsen, John O'Shaughnessy, Sean Prendergast, Russ Rogers, Jennifer Rineer, Marlene Rutkowski, Rose Scarola, Doreen Smith, Lori Turowski, Gretchen Weigeshoff, Pat Willemsen, Janice Woods, Paul Schwarz, Scott Tuminelli, Keith Van Althuis, Ken Winham, Todd Wootton.

Nancy Iler and Diana McHorney are learning about the ten commandments of human relations. Both are genuinely interested in people and considerate of other's feelings.

Jackie Peterson and Glen DiBiasa worked with their freshmen advisees and used the skills that they learned at Fairview Lakes. Seniors that smile at people, speak to them, call them by name, are friendly and helpful will be remembered kindly. Both Jackie and Glen are cordial and eager to lend a helping hand.

The challenge of this activity, according to Lisa Parak, was to cross the designated area without touching the ground. Walking on automobile tires that had to remain stationary and walking on 2 X 4's that could be moved by hand were the only outside help allowed. Success and failure were both greeted with laughter by observers and participants. A good sense of humor and a dash of humility go a long way in improving human relations.

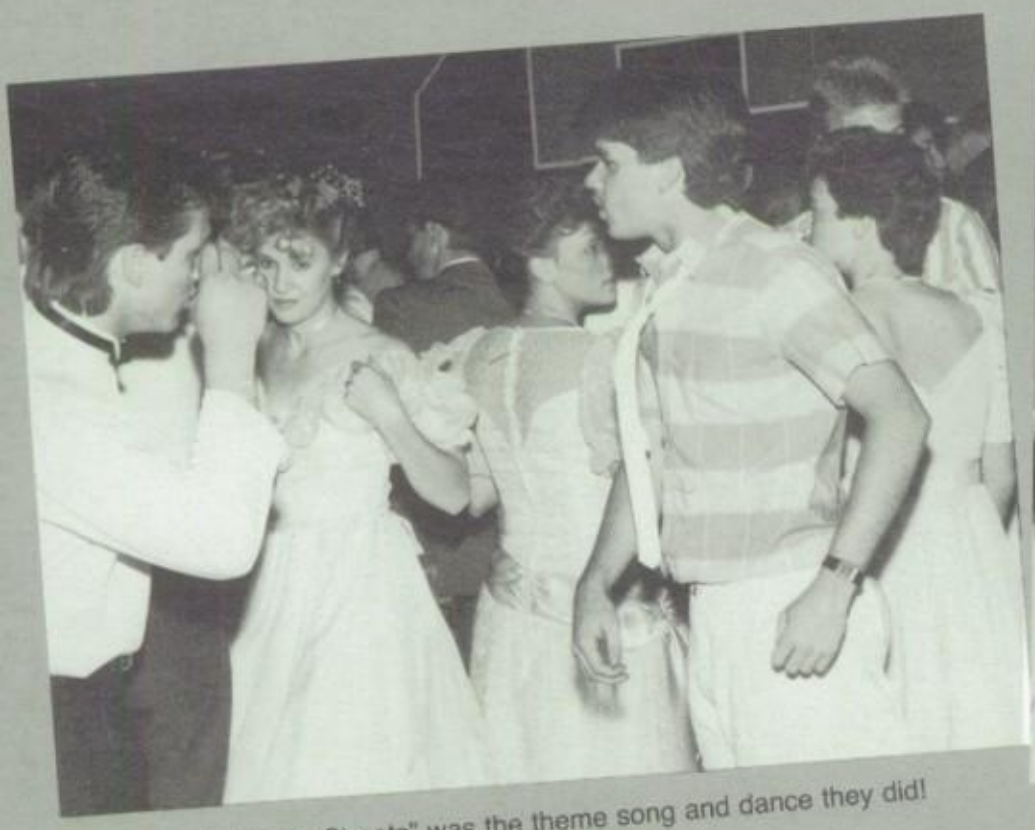
City Nights
created in school gym

An outline of New York City set the scene for "City Nights" on April 5, 1986 as the class of '87 Junior Prom got underway.

The twinkling lights, the warm glow of candlelight, and wine glasses on each table gave the evening a touch of elegance. The aura in the atmosphere was filled with laughter between friends, romance, and dancing feet. For many, the prom will be an event to be reminisced about for years.

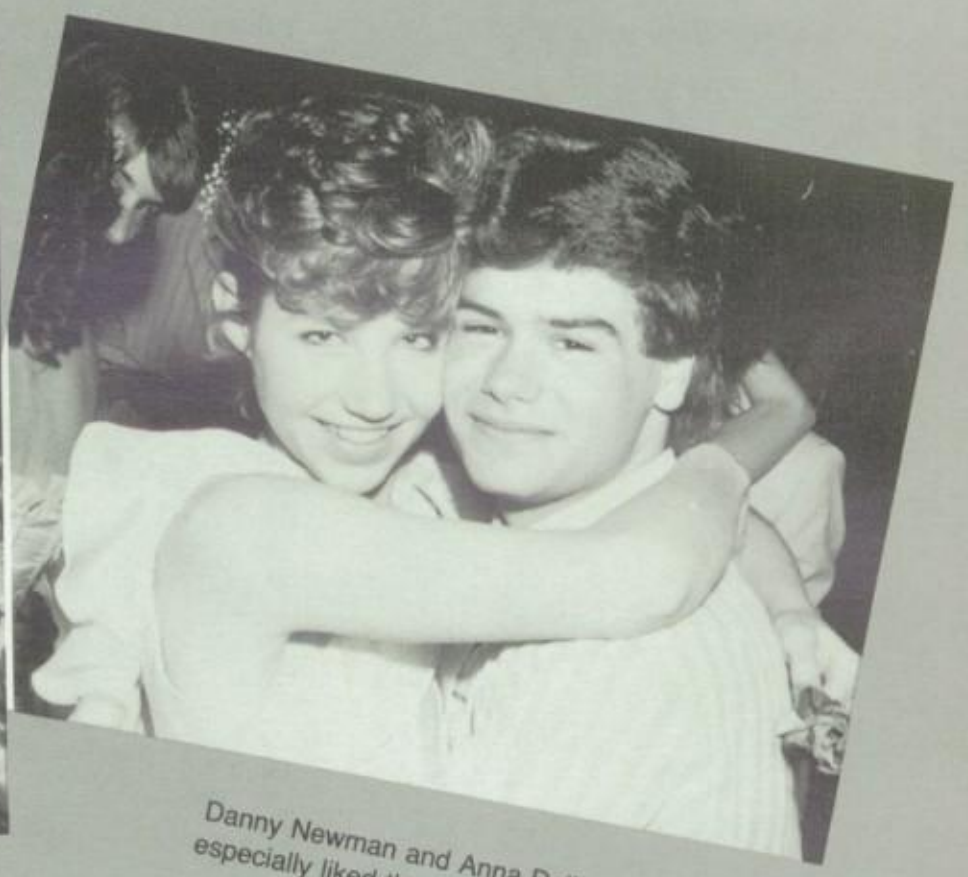
To all the dedicated juniors of last year who spent twelve hours transforming an ordinary gym into a city night from all who attended, a sincere thank you.



"Dancin' in the Streets" was the theme song and dance they did!

Caryn Sullivan and Kim DeVries

Alumnus Mark Milan, Laurie Tobia, and Janice Leiby



Danny Newman and Anna Daily especially liked the slow dances.

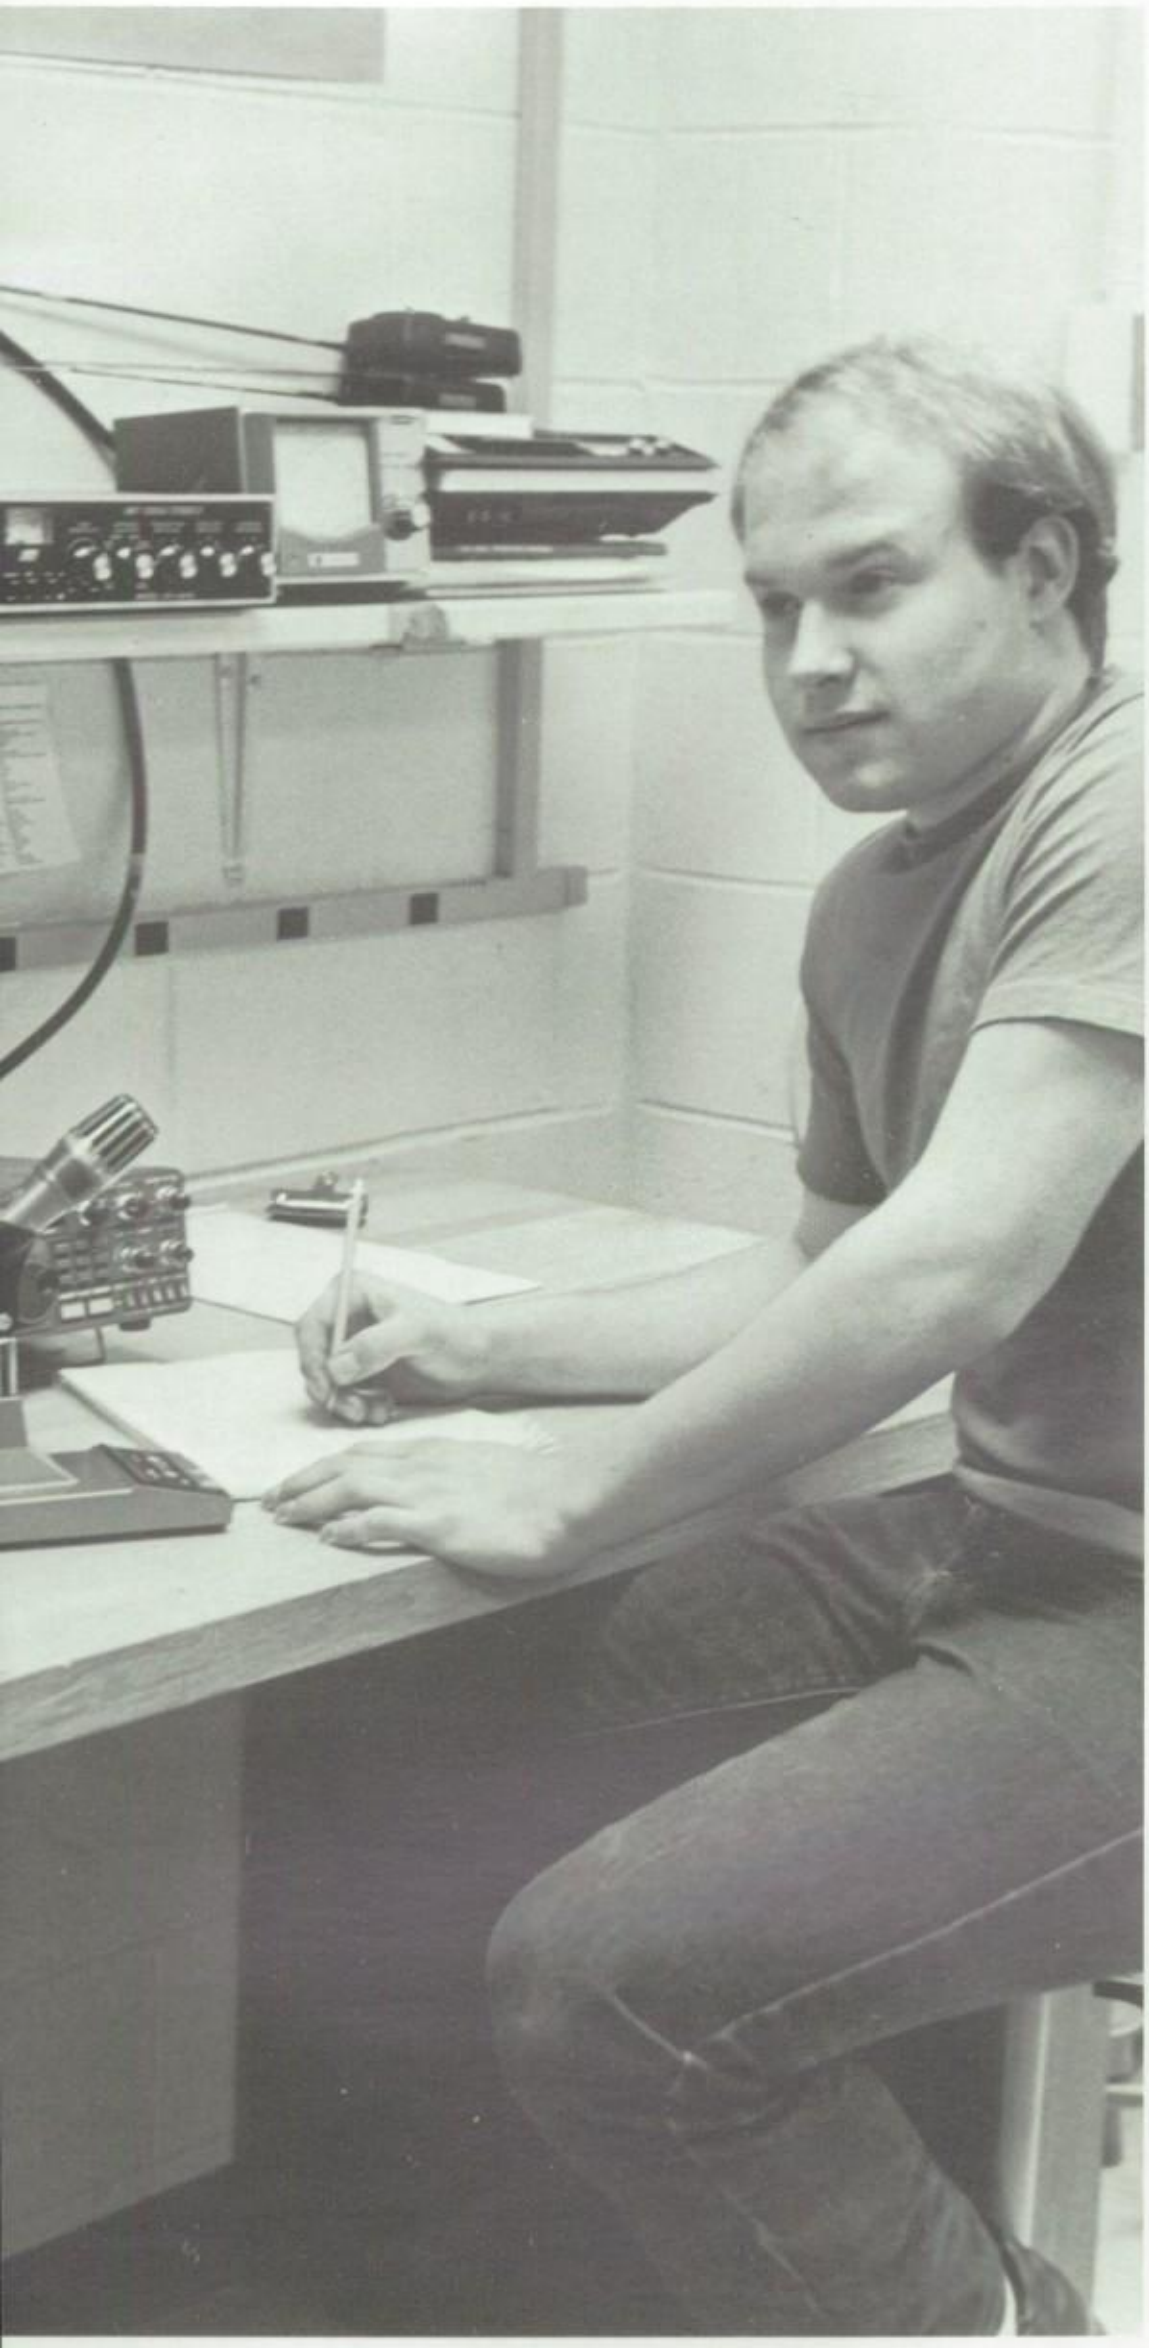
What do seniors do in their spare time?

What Vernon students do with their leisure time is an easy question. With the natural environment provided by the mountains and lakes as well as the temperate climate zone, numerous activities are available to seniors.

Once the demands of home, school and job are meant, seniors usually want to spend their spare time with special friends who share the same interests. The undefined activity of hanging out is popular and, of course, attending parties is high on the list of preferences. Other legimate activities include volleyball on the beach, snowmobiling, ice skating, ice hockey, dancing, and skiing.

Mike Grefski is an avid album collector specializing in rock and roll. The diversity of his collection spans four decades.

Seniors Mike Olsen, Tracy Hobbins and Todd "Jerry" Belcher play volleyball regularly on the beach at Highland Lakes. Note the creative use of the boat to hold up the net.



Jay Thienel has been obsessed with radios since eighth grade when he first got his license to go on the air from the federal government. Studying electronics got him interested in ham radios and now he puts his knowledge to use daily. When you have reached the third level of five you are authorized to test and issue licenses to others. Jay has been at level five but had to wait until his eighteenth birthday to legally grant licenses.

Ben Garrison skiis on the slopes on Vernon Valley whenever he gets the chance. Time is limited when work, school, yearbook, family, and girl friend take first place.

D.J. Dominicis executes a daffy which is one of many moves in free style jumping and a favorite among Vernon skiers.

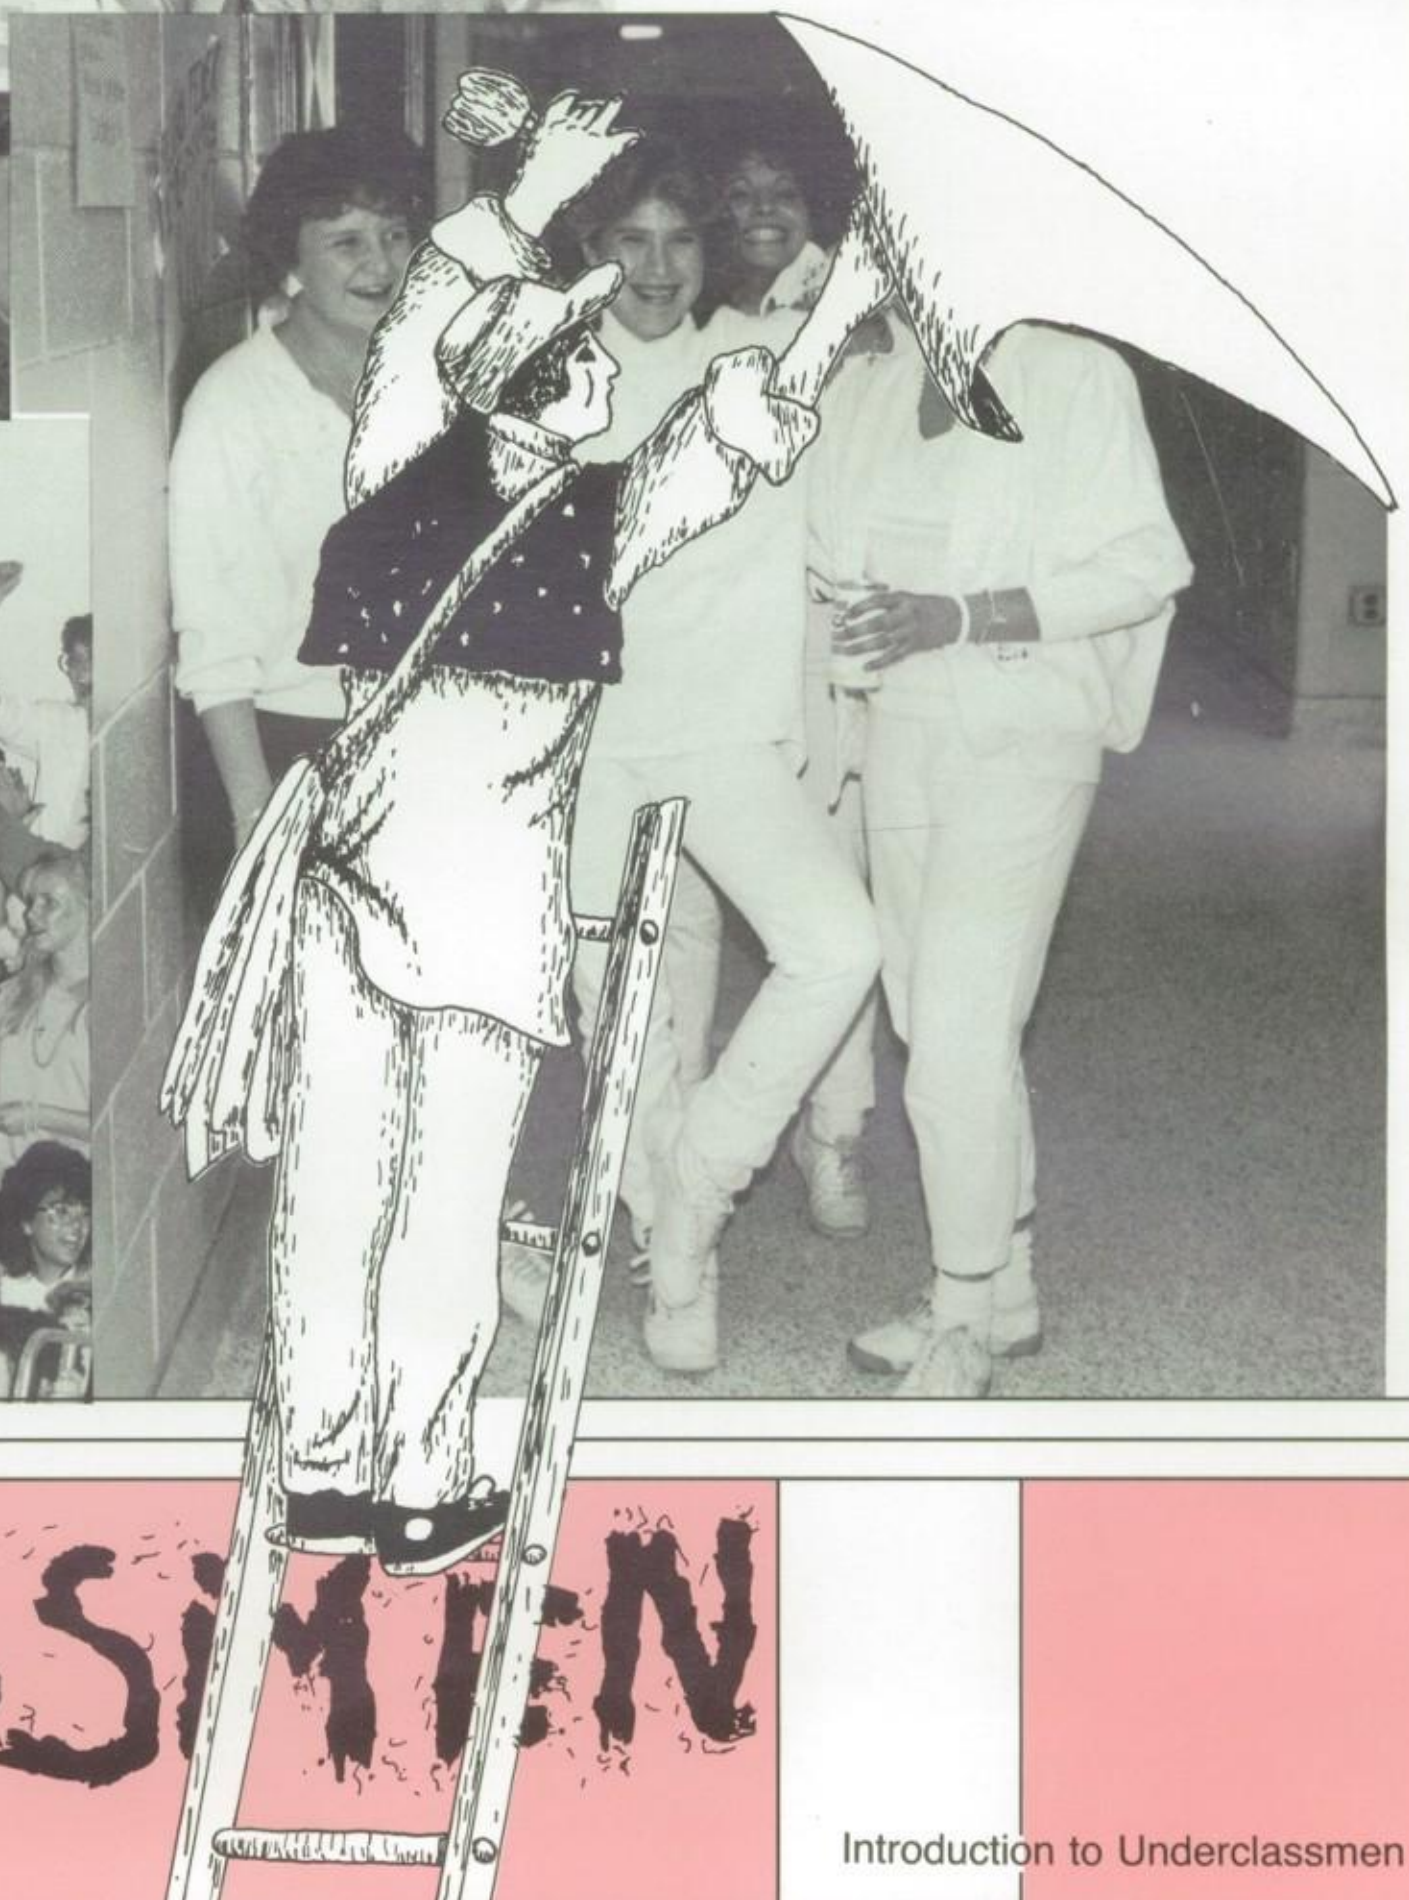
UNDERC

Moving up the ladder...

Well Juniors, you only have one more rung to go. Finally after three long years you're going to be considered "upperclassmen." Hopefully your senior year will be worth the wait.

Sophomores! Can you believe how many freshmen were inherited this year? Over 380 will receive your old title, "Frosh."

Unfortunately Frosh, someone must begin on the bottom rung of the ladder. But it's all up from there.



L-ASSMEN

Nominees in stiff competition

Academically and/or artistically talented students currently in their junior year of high school are eligible for nomination to the Governer's School of New Jersey, a fully funded program. Three separate programs are offered--one in science at Drew University, one at Monmouth College in public issues and the future of New Jersey, and one at Trenton State College covering six areas of the arts.

Vernon's nominees are (far right) Michael Perler in science and (middle) Kara Coppers for creative writing. Pictured as a group are the arts candidates--Danielle Crispo in vocal music, Kim DeLuccio in instrumental music, Janet Miller in theater, Jelena Alonso in dance and Courtney Appel in the visual arts.

Each student is judged on an autobiographical essay, his or her school transcript, and personal recommendations. Candidates in the arts must also submit audition material or a portfolio of slides in their speciality. Students applying to Drew and Monmouth must also attend a personal interview.

Unusual pets for unusual people

Some members of the animal kingdom naturally make good pets and are held in great affection by their devoted owners. Other creatures demand more care and imagination to be considered pets.

Karen Martin hatched a Guinea Fowl in her house last winter and named him Guiseppe. He is native to Africa but he has adapted well. Karen says, "It's strange but I like having Guiseppe for a pet." She keeps Guiseppe caged outside and he eats chicken food.

Reptiles do make good pets although they don't come when you call them by name. Rob Marcazo's "awesome" boa constrictor is named Lucifer and has lived with Rob for one year. Being a cold-blooded animal and native to Central and South America means that Lucifer must be kept warm. Rob keeps Lucifer in a large lighted fish tank and the boa thrives on mice.

Other reptiles in the form of lizards have found a home with Lou Stigler. He keeps curlytail skinks and doesn't think that's at all unusual. For food Lou has to purchase meal worms and crickets from a pet store and also keeps his cold-blooded pets warm in a tank with rocks for hiding.

Meichsner and Merolle voted Best Legs

A change in the normal routine of things came on October 10, 1986 when the Junior Class decided to spice up their usual dance and add some sort of contest. A Hot Legs contest was decided upon and approximately 150 people attended.

Twenty contestants vied for the coveted title and the winners, pictured to the right, were Maryellen Meichsner and Mark Merolle. The winners were selected by measuring the cheers from the crowd. The teachers present were called upon to be judges of the loudest applause.

During the dance refreshments were served including soda, candy and potato chips. Most people munched out on junk food. The dance was an over-all success and produced a $400 profit for the class treasury.

Surfing inspires spirit week theme

"Ride the Junior Wave" was the theme for the Junior Class banner and hallway decorations. The ideas came from Joanne Herschap, Jill Sammak, Mike Embleton, Mark Merolle, Lauren Adams, Amy Bogdon and Nicole Parodi--members of the spirit week committee. The banner was designed and made by Joanne and Amy and carried at homecoming half-time by Nicole and Amy.

In addition to spirit week activities and the informal dance held in October, class plans were centered around the prom.

Juniors choose beach theme for prom

Imagine the sound of waves lapping gently against the sandy shore. Add a pier and a sandcastle and you're at a beach party, or so the junior class prom committee hoped. Amy Bogdon, Danielle Alaura (chairperson), Lauren Adams, Ms. Cynthia Barnes (adviser), and Courtney Appel comprise the committee pictured to the right; they planned for a big success. The beach party theme was "Ocean Whispers" The prom featured a DJ spinning tunes such as "Jersey Girl," the theme song.

Blues style Randazzo's trademark

The up and coming guitarist in the sophomore class is Steve Randazzo who has been playing guitar for the last three years. Steve practices for about four hours each and every day. His prime style of playing is the blues.

Steve uses gender telecaster and stratocaster guitars to create the sound he wants. He has his sights set on a professional music career and is now in the process of getting a band together.

Training horses to show works for Mangano

"Las Vegas Black Jack" and horsewoman Lisa Mangano have together produced a winning combination. Lisa rides both Western and English and has been competing for seven years during which time she has earned 310 ribbons and trophies.

During her first year of competition Lisa rode her mother's horse "Champion." Since then she acquired her own horse "Black Jack" and is now training a quarter horse "Skittle" for the 1987 season.

Shattered dream becomes favorite pastime

of talented gymnast

The uneven parallel bars is the best event for gymnast Tara Simmons. Tara says "I like the constant challenge throughout the routine."

Tara was able to increase her strength and improve her skills on the unevens and other apparatus when she participated in the Parkettes, an Olympic training school in Allentown, Pennsylvania. Tryouts for the school were difficult even for the talented Tara. Competitions included testing for flexibility, strength, and over-all gymnastic ability.

Once Tara made the school, the hard work began. She had to concentrate her academics into the first four hours of the day. Then it was off to the gym where she would practice eight more hours.

During a training session, Tara fell from the uneven bars and dislocated her elbow. She was rushed to the hopsital where doctors placed pins in her elbow because of the severity of the injury. After the pins were removed, Tara's flexibility was greatly reduced and her olympic training discontinued. Tara's love for the sport of gymnastics stays the same.

Bible Study Club reorganized after ten years

Bible Study is the topic of a club of which very few are aware. Ten years ago the club was halted because of the controversy over church and state. The Bible Study Club is now active again as a result of sophomore Desirée Applegate's efforts to publicize its existence and Christina Bremer's screen-printed posters.

Desirée (left) says, "We meet every Tuesday after school. We discuss modern topics and how the Bible explains them. Then we apply our knowledge to everyday life." Even though the organization was allowed to resume meeting this year, controversies still exist over the separation of church and state.

Currie develops artistic skills

The art of drawing is for most people the art of the impossible. But for Jason Currie and those who have learned to see as an artist sees it can be a pleasurable and natural activity.

Jason became interested in art in grammar school. He likes creating things with his own hands. He is currently enrolled in Drawing and Painting I and II and intends to continue taking art courses throughout high school. Art Major is a definite must for Jason.

Although no firm decision has been made, Jason said that art may be part of his future. He is considering architecture, commercial design, and photography. Right now art is a hobby for him and painting realistic landscapes his speciality. Trying portrait painting is next. Jason lists Escher and Leonardo da Vinci as his favorite artists because of their technical skill with pencil and paint.

Have you been invited to the MORP?

A cute new idea has surfaced due to the creativity of this year's freshmen class. They have invented a MORP. Bet you're wondering what a MORP is! A class dance exclusively for freshmen. MORP is prom spelled backwards.

The four class officers were already friends when they came to the high school but their friendship became even stronger as they worked together on the class council. Robin Wasserman was president of her eighth grade class at Lounsberry Hollow. She enjoys making people feel happy and gets a feeling of accomplishment from her activities.

Klein recognized for vocal ability

"Music is the universal language of understanding," says Glenn

From the age of four, freshman Glenn Klein has been singing in one chorus or another. Now he is the only freshman in the VTHS Chamber Choir, a select group of vocalists representing the best in the Concert Choir.

Since Glenn moved to Vernon in the fifth grade, he has been singing in school programs. He performed under the direction of Mr. Neil Parrotta at Lounsberry Hollow and is now led by Mr. Richard Zweier. Glenn is also in the singing and dancing chorus of "Applause."

Glenn auditioned for All County Chorus and was one of eleven tenors that made the ranks. In order to qualify, each person trying out had to sing two scales and a solo "The Water is Wide." The singing is done a cappella (without accompaniment) after the pitch is given.

Published author gets career start

Author of "The Gift of Love," freshmen Hilary McGowan had her story considered by the editors of the New York Times and purchased by the Borderland Farms during the summer of 1986. Hilary claims that she has written "tons" of stories but so far attempted to sell only five.

Hilary started writing her "trashy novels" way back in seventh grade. At that time she was encouraged by her English teacher to enter a writing contest. Her entry launched her literary career.

Ham Radios become fascinating hobby for freshmen

Speaking to a man in France is one of fun aspects of learning to operate a ham radio according to enthusiasts Matt Knebl and Michael Hainzl. Both boys can talk to others aro[d the country by using voice, Morse code, television and computers.

Classes for the licensing test were given in Newton. Matt and Mike completed a self study program which helped to prepare them for the test. They got some guidance and instruction from electronics teacher Mr. James Quinlin. On July 29, 1986, they received their third of five licenses. The Federal Communications Commission administers the testing and grants licenses.

Fros⅔ compete successfully

Schmalzriedt a natural

Setting new marks in the 200 meter individual medley, 100 meter butterfly, 50 meter freestyle, and 100 meter freestyle, freshman Dawn Schmalzriedt has been a welcome addition to the girls swim team. After only one month swimming with the Vikings she has broken these four individual records and held her own against all opponents. Coach Janet Kleedorfer said,

Different strokes for different folks

Whatever it is you like to do, a class has been designed just for you. An "academic" class or a hands-on class can help you to plan your future. The class can be fun and still play a big part in everyday life.

Computers, paint brushes, wrenches, microwave ovens, power saws, parallel bars, books, magazines, maps and language labs are just the tools used to develop the talents that prepare the underclassmen for their next step...

"We've got spirit We've got pride"

"The hardest part of organizing spirit week was trying to come up with ideas for wide spread participation. The ideas had to have appeal and had to incorporate items that were in everyone's closet."

--Chairman Anthony Graham

But ideas were found. Five of them to be exact. Crazy hat and pin day, surf-punk day, muscic appreciation day, blue-gold day, and class color day made up the list.

Competition among the four classes was keen. Preparations were extensive. On the Sunday before spirit week, students filled the halls to decorate the lockers, walls, and ceiling. Themes were "Anchors Away," "Ride the Junior Wave," Sophomore City," and "A Step toward the Future."

The week concluded with a loud pep rally on Friday afternoon. The best banner was won by the Class of 1988 and Most School Spirit by the Class of 1987. The trophies were presented on Homecoming Saturday.

Zduniak & Runge represent NJ at Nat'l Convention

Kim Runge

The end of school in June is the start of summer vacation for most students. For Council President Kim Runge and her campaign opponent Jeff Zduniak the end of school meant traveling to Oklahoma City for the National Association of Student Councils Convention.

Accompanied by Council Advisor Gaylon Powell, New Jersey's delegation was the second largest to attend. Educational seminars were held at Putnam City North High School and conducted by actor/ composer Tom Sullivan, basketball star Julius Irving, and Barbara Morgan of the Challenger space program. The national convention was designed to introduce new ideas and encourage participants to utilize their leadership skills.

Every year student council holds fund raisers, the most successful of which are the candy cane-o-grams and carnation sales. Pictured to the right are Mike McGovern, Mary Ellen Meichsner, Carol Ignatieff and Jen Rineer who spent a good part of their day delivering candy canes.

At the annual election of the NJASC, Vernon's Mike McGovern was made Treasurer. Mike competed against two other candidates for the office and was required to submit an apllication and an essay to qualify.

McGovern must now attend monthly meetings at the schools of other officers, a fall and spring business meeting at Rider College, the NJ Annual Convetnion at Trenton State College and the National Convention of Student Councils in Buffalo, N.Y. Other duties include handling the council's money which can total $100,000, keeping the accounts accurate and helping with the "Top Ten Projects" competition.

Musicians strive to be better

Just fun and games? No way. The Concert Band works very hard to produce a quality sound.

Membership in the band is open to all grade levels and the only requirements are the ability to play a musical instrument with a certain expertise and the willingness to make yourself part of a group. Time during and after school is demanded for performances.

Sixty-one students are in the band which is comprised of brass, woodwind, and percussion sections. There are approximately twenty instrument groups.

The officers of the band are President John Curry, Vice President Kathy Schotter, Secretary Marianne Carroll and Treasurer Kim Neff. John Rothwell is the student conductor.

The band members compete to get into County, Area, Regional, and All-State Bands. There is even competition within the Viking Band. Section members work to improve their skills and attitude with the hopes of acquiring a higher seat. First chair is the ultimate goal.

Brain sports are fun

The first decatheltes from Vernon on February 7 earned the chance to compete in the state decathlon on March 7 and ultimately in the national finals in California in April. The Vernon team placed fifth out of nineteen schools that competed. In addition to the team trophy, individuals won several medals and plaques.

Two students won multiple awards. Kathleen MacDonald received three golds and one silver. Scott Tuminelli received one silver and two bronze. Both Kathleen and Scott had overall scores that ranked them first and second in the varsity division.

Other individual medals were awarded to Glen DeBiasa and Sean Prendergast who qualified for the gold and Frank Gerkins who claimed a bronze. The areas of competition included giving a speech, writing an essay, taking a comprehensive written exam, and participating in the Super Quiz.

Special people hit the slopes

Students volunteered to help others. Lists of willing skiiers from Vernon High had to be limited to ten per day to assist handicapped olympians test their skills with skiies on snow.

The one on one situation gave people a good chance to get to know each other. According to Mrs. JoAnn Mulligan, "Our school was repeatedly praised because our students were such excellent skiiers and had such good rapport with one another and with others."

The sport events were held at Vernon Valley Ski Resort and the closing ceremonies at Hidden Valley. The lodge was decorated by art students for the dance and the presentation of gold, silver and bronze medals.

Everyone came out a winner.

Professional evaluation an aid to performance

A trip to Toronto, Canada, from May 8 to 11 gave Vernon choirs a chance to perform at the Maple Leaf International Festival. Although the trip was fun, it was also serious business and their singing was evaluated by professional conductors.

The choirs also gave their annual concerts, the Holiday Concert in December, the Solo/Ensemble Concert in March, and the Spring Concert in May. A favorite number that provided a challenge was Vivaldi's "Gloria" with orchestra. Choir members also participated in the Pan Am Toys for Tots Concert at the Brooklyn Technical High School on December 12.

Motivate for success

DECA (Distributive Education Clubs of America) is part of the marketing education program. DECA provides experiences in business that include state and national competitions, business and community involvement, civic consciousness, and social interaction. Marketing students involved in DECA are motivated, energetic, and develop a feeling of pride and achievement which is important for success later in life. Some of the activities include marketing competitions, fashion shows, market research projects, the annual holiday party for disadvantaged children, participation in field trips and workshops.

Mellow or fiery-- units look better every year

Football games would not be the same without the musical entertainment provided by the Marching Band and Complementary Units. Each year the performance seems to get better.

New routines were established for the 86-87 season. According to senior Barbara Ann DeOlden the hardest routine to perfect was the Saber Dance because of its fast tempo. Some routines were slow; some were mellow. "Bridge over Troubled Water" was one number that particularly brought a feeling of togetherness to the units.

Mr. David Jones serves as the director and senior John Rothwell as drum major. Mr. David Willer of the middle school is the assistant band director. Mrs. Irene Batchelor is the adviser to the complementary units and Barbara Ann DeOlden the captain.

Record keeping & repair major job components

On the job training is received by a group of five students who make up the AV staff. They are trained on equipment ranging from cassette recorders and movie projectors to computers. Signing equipment in and out, replacing bulbs on overhead projectors, and making electronic repairs are part of the daily routine and done under the supervision of Mr. John Bryan. "Most of the equipment," says Mr. Bryan, "has been here since the school opened twelve years ago." As a result there is a constant need for repair.

As far as usage goes, both the English and History departments are the largest consumers of AV equipment. Two more video cassette players were added to the inventory this year, the only addition since the original units were purchased four years ago.

Not just for beginners

Contrary to popular belief, Ski Club serves more than beginning skiiers. This year, 43 students ranging from novice to advanced, took advantage of the cheaper rates offered by the club.

For just fifteen dollars, students could use the bus to ride to the ski area from school. For some, this was a great advantage. For others, the real benefit was in the various discount packages on lifts, rentals and lessons.

Mr. Terry Cassidy and Mrs. Paula Pyrcz advised the club which skied on six Mondays from 3-8:30 p.m. at Vernon Valley Ski Area...weather permitting.

Present yourself with a smile

Enthusiastic cheers from the crowds at boys basketball and football games are lead by a group of young women dedicated to doing a good job. Competition to get on the squads is keen and the pride is strong.

Cheerleading may seem like a simple thing but much time, practice, and skill go into the act. When tryouts come around, many nervous girls vie for one of the limited openings. Hopes are high. Former cheerleaders help the newcomers; they teach them the cheers and the moves. But most of all they teach them to smile.

Immortality causes a mortality

"Dark of the Moon" was presented on October 31 and November 1. The drama was about John, the witch boy played by Chris Schlerf, who wanted to become mortal in order to marry his first love Barbara Allen played by Janet Miller. John becomes mortal when the congure woman played by Stephanie Donald grants his wish but in order for John to stay mortal, Barbara would have to remain faithful to him. In the end, a tragic twist occurs, making the witch boy once again immortal and causing his love to die.

The Thespian Society is an International Honorary Program which promotes excellence in secondary school theatre arts. In order to become a Thespian you must receive ten thespian points, each of which is equal to ten hours or more of excellent theatre work. The points are earned according to an official system set up by the Society. Thespian membership is lifetime. Alumni with the Vernon High Troupe #3481 are welcome to sit in on rehearsals and are admitted to productions for student prices.

The Thespian Society ran the annual Theatre Pieces scheduled for May and planned a weekend in New York City to visit Broadway and see professional actors at work.

Small cast tells story

The show must go on didn't hold up when the storm arrived on January 30. Closing night became opening night for "Album" and the second performance was rescheduled for February 7.

"Album" was a realistic and sensitive comedy about four teenagers in the 60's that dealt with growing up, experiencing love, rejection and the power of music. Stephanie Donald was cast as Peggy, Sara Harrington as Trish, Rob Marcazo as Boo and Mike Caldwell as Billy.

Although "Album" had a cast of only four, this play like all productions would not have been successful without the help of everyone who works behind the scenes. The individuals who coordinate these necessary details are Mrs. Ilene Franklin with publicity, Mr. John Bryan with technical assistance and Mrs. Fran Spielhagen with costumes. Their student helpers are equally important.

Life in the theatre with all its ups and its downs is realistically portrayed in the musical Applause. Opening night was April 9 with productions on April 10 and 11 as well.

Margo, played by Jelena Alonso, found out just how quickly a star can rise or fall. Margo meets a young girl named Eve Harrington who is played by Faith Donald. Eve manipulates her way into Margo's life, becoming her personal secretary and gradually taking over other tasks. Eve gets the job of understudy for Eve's theater role and eventually replaces Margo in the show. Eve becomes the new star and everyone's sweetheart.

Publications share common problems

Meeting deadlines and overcoming obstacles are the problems common to all publications. Students in Literary Journal Production and Journalism work hard to do just this. If deadlines are not met, the newspaper and/or magazine will not be printed on time.

The classes charged with this responsibility do a lot of thinking and research to come up with interesting ideas for stories. The computer wordstar program is used to write, re-write, edit and print copy. Layouts are designed to show exactly where copy, photos, art work, or graphics will appear. When layouts are completed, the newspaper is printed and the magazine is published.

The Viking Voice was advised Ms. Nora Szalavitz until mid-year when Mrs. Lois Bricklin assumed the role. The Viking Voice contains, sports, special activities, horoscopes, and "corridor commentaries" on a regular basis. The paper is sold in homeroom and during lunch mods.

The Back Porch Review, the literary magazine, is advised by Ms. Donna Spector. The Review contains art, poetry, short stories, essays and plays submitted by alumni, students and faculty. It is sold through English classes.

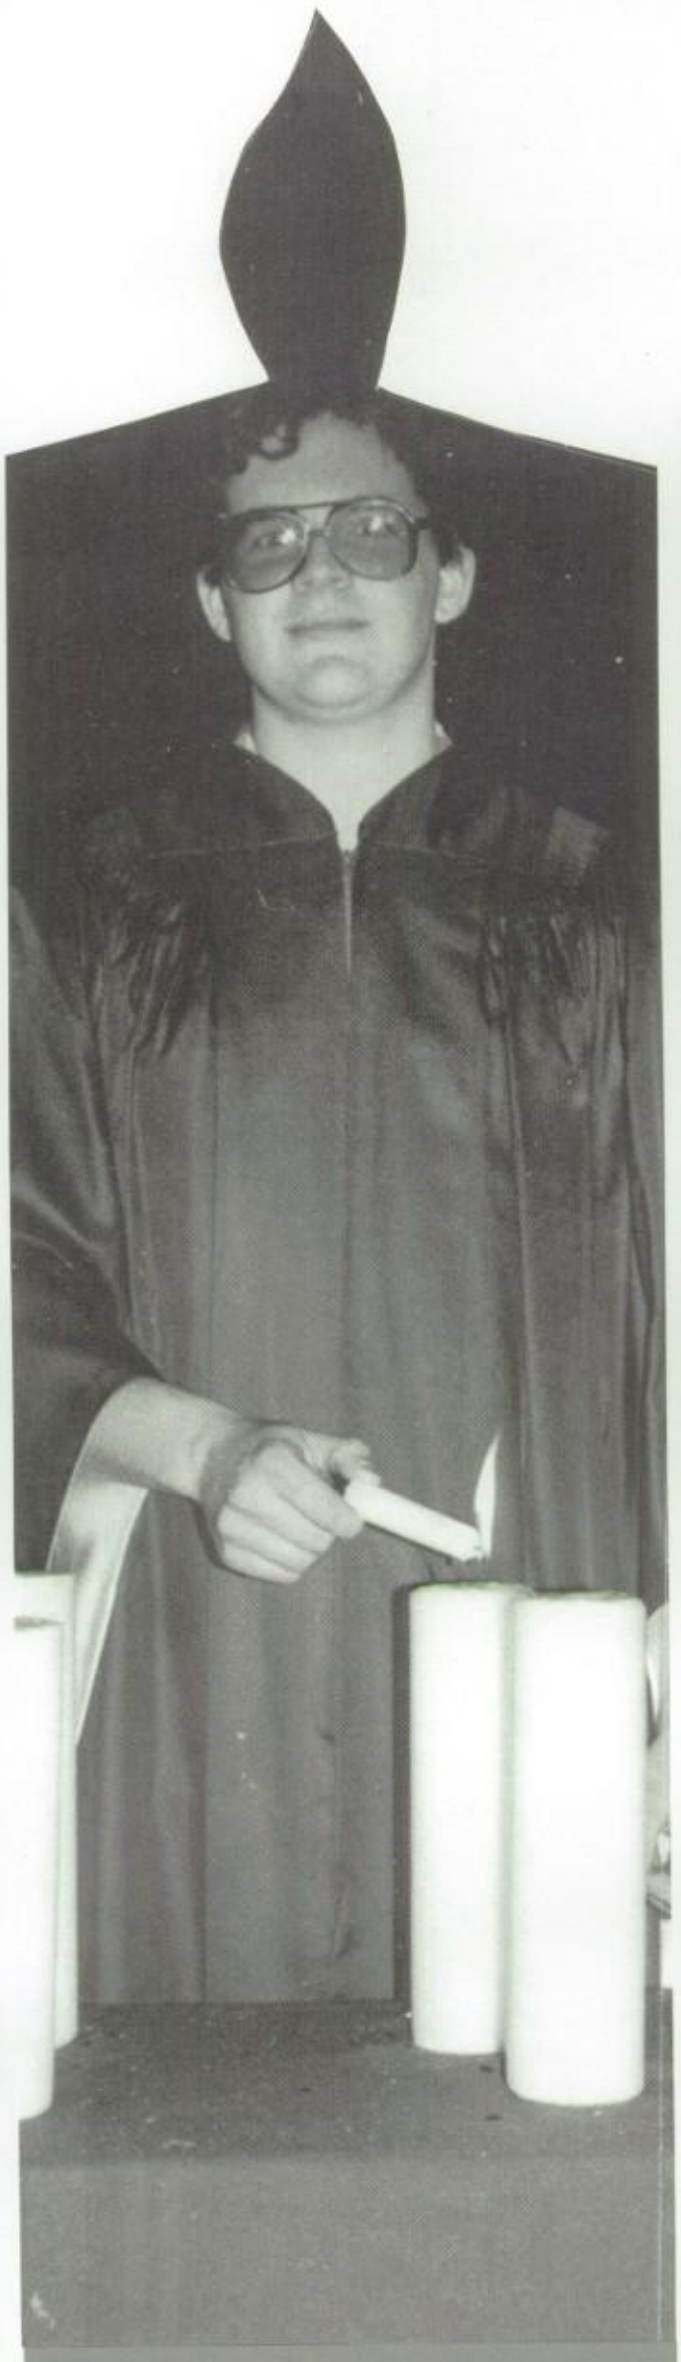
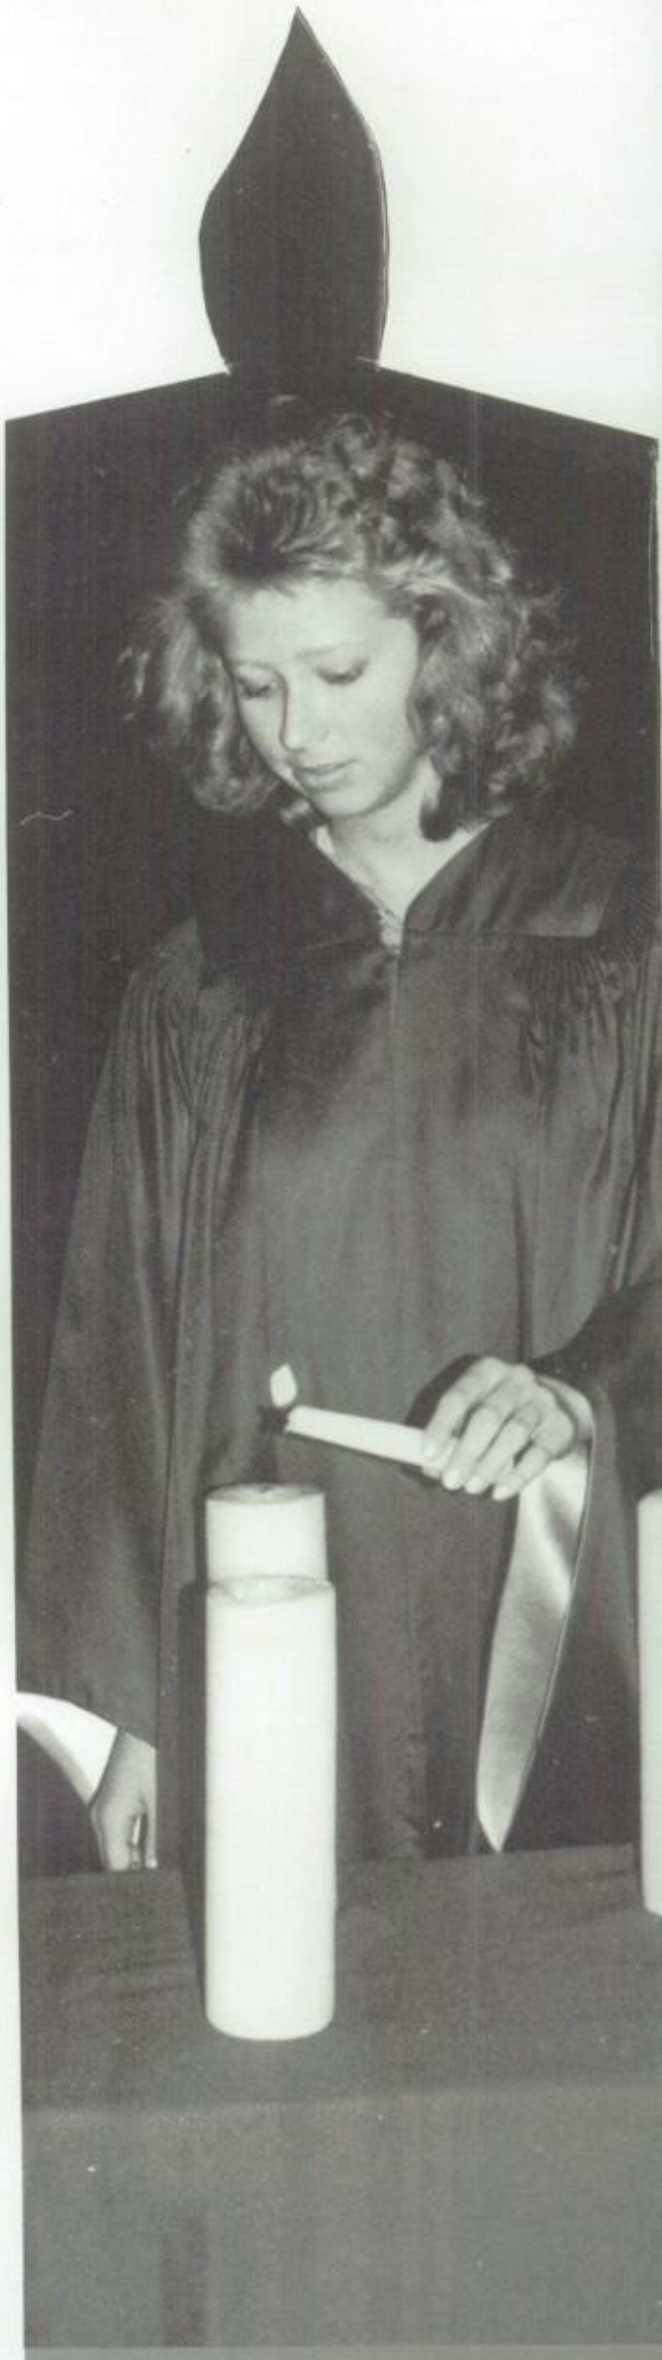
"Leadership is a quality that many envy but few possess," claimed Janice Woods as she lit the candle representing leadership.

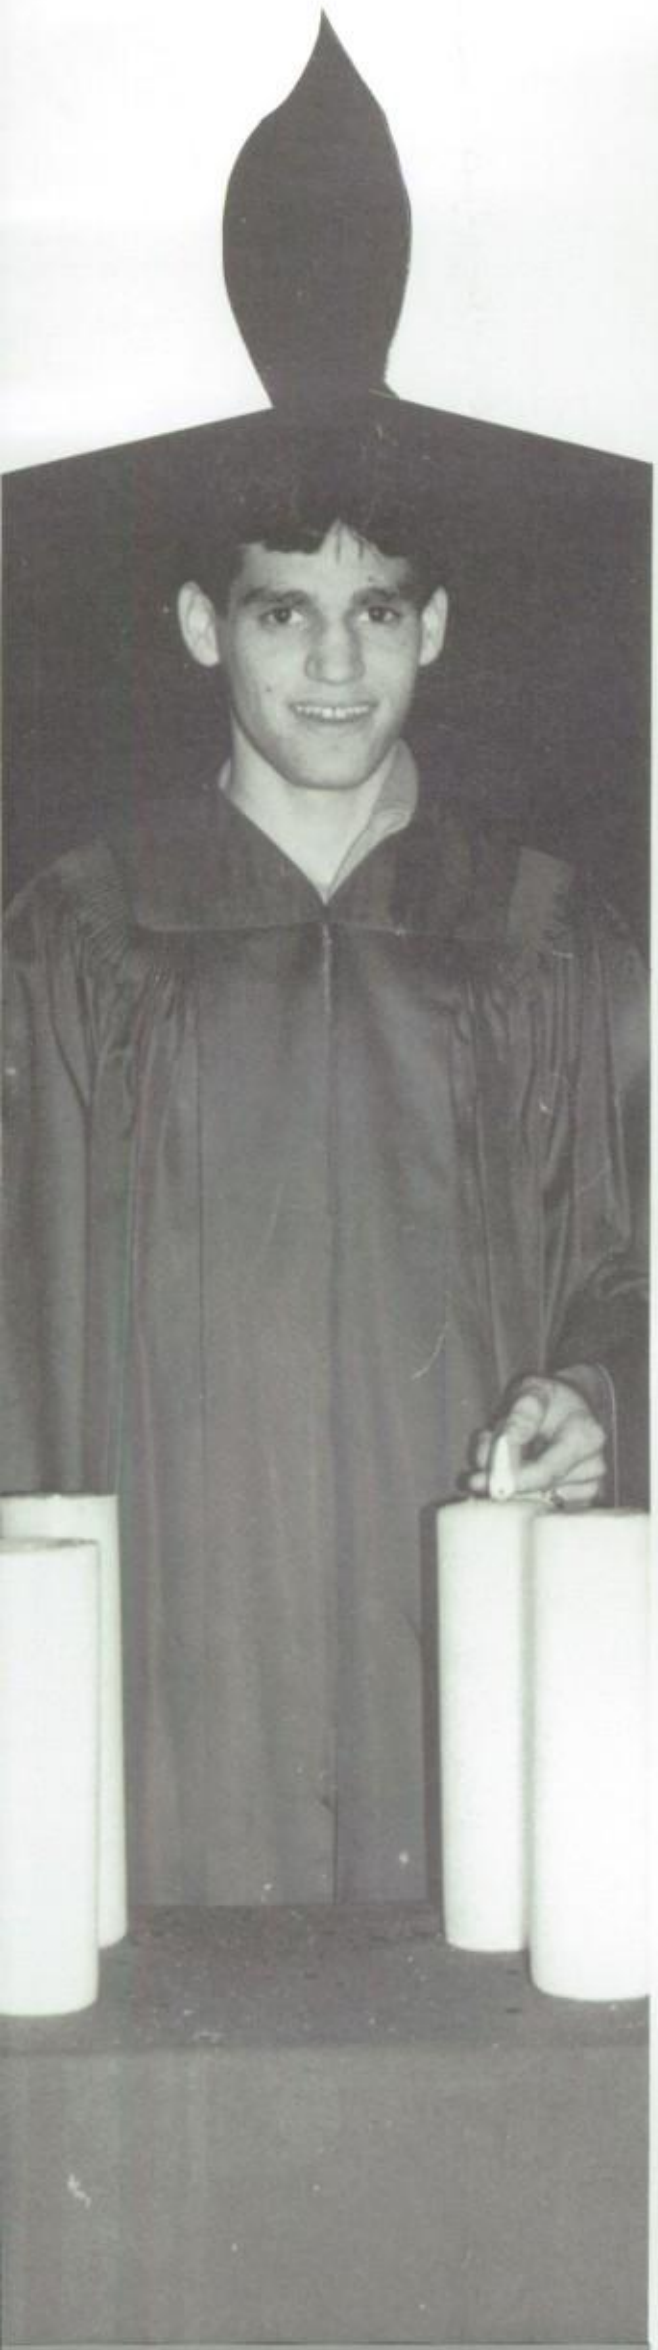


"Character is the power that makes great men famous," was said by Sean Prendergast as he lit the candle that represented character.



Nancy Iler spoke of "knowledge that must give us vision and eliminate narrow mindedness" as she lit the candle of knowledge.

Tradition altered



"The light of service burns in our hearts and we must use it to create a better tomorrow," said Glen DeBiasa as he lit his candle symbolizing service.

For the first time in its twelve year history the National Honor Society held its candlelight ceremony for the induction of new members on other than a Monday in January. Forty juniors were admitted to the society on Tuesday, March 17. Hundreds were present to acknowledge and applaud their academic achievements.

The ceremony was conducted by president Radhika Chopra and sponsor Alice Groome who introduced each member with a brief biographical sketch. Music was provided by Mr. Richard Zweier and the Woodwind Quartet.

Principal Anthony Toriello congratulated society members and challenged them to live up to their potential. He reminded them of their responsibility to make this a better world and urged them to continue learning throughout their lives.

Why not volunteer?

If you find that you don't really need your study hall and that you feel good when you do something for someone else, why not volunteer? Help is appreciated in the attendance office, the guidance office, and the library.

Runners collect homeroom attendance, deliver attendance bulletins, take messages to students, return sign-in sheets to study hall teachers from the library and generally are helpful. Staff members would find it difficult to do their jobs efficiently without the assistance of volunteers.

The end and the beginning

Each year passes
Take yet another step
The future is uncertain
The past is past
We learned
We grew
We became the best that we could be
Our goals...
Our dreams...
Will be forever.

and everything went black...

Katl,

Remember that professors are people too. Perhaps you should take a picture of Mr. Cooper's dent? Please also remember that everyone is entitled to their own opinion. Even if it is wrong.

Friends forever and a day.

In recognition of special contributions

...Awards were presented by the Viking Club to all members of the varisty sports teams. In addition the seniors received their jerseys. Each sport voted an outstanding award and Michele Van Atta claimed two, one from soccer coach Gary Carter. The Kris Michaels Award for giving of your self with spirit and pride was presented to Vince Ditta. His coaches Ryan and Cooper applauded the choice.

Last social event of the year

Tradition was broken again. To cap a year of changes, printer problems caused the yearbook proofs to be cancelled and the delivery delayed by two weeks. The senior dinner was held as planned with a slide show for entertainment. Yearbooks were distributed after the English exam on June 16, 1987.

"With or without you"

The right way to begin a three day Memorial weekend is with a senior prom. The glamour and excitement of such an evening cannot easily be duplicated. May 22 found the seniors and their guests at the Birchwood Manor.

The theme song was "With or without You" by U2. The prom King and Queen were cousins Mark DiGuilio and Jennifer Koestler.

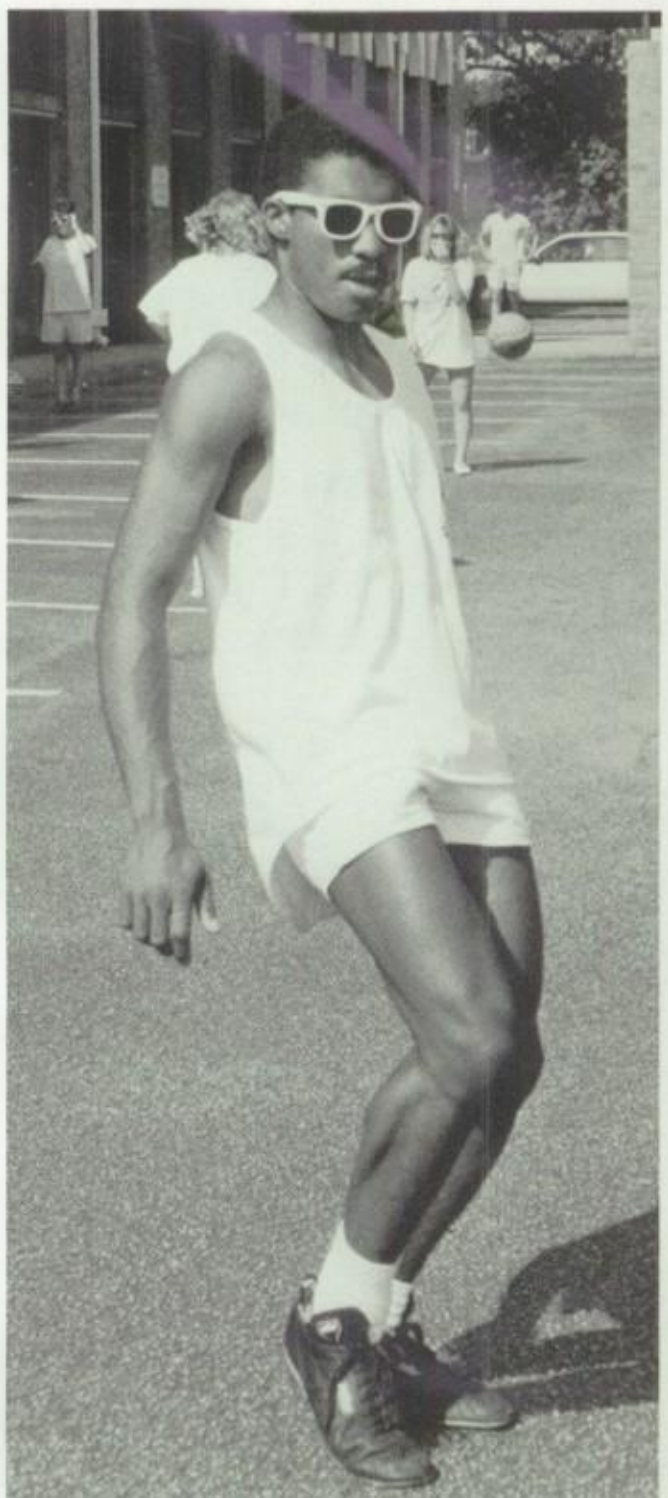
Yes, there was a class trip

Just after the end of the school day on Wednesday, June 10, two bus loads of Vernon's finest left for Virginia Beach. Thursday was spent on the beach with fantastic tans and painful burns as a result. Friday found the group in Busch Gardens for ten hours. In the evening, the bus transported us to the nation's capital. Arlington, the Vietnam Memorial, and the Smithsonian concluded the sightseeing.



At 5 p.m. it rained... by 6:15 the weather was perfect
